RHETT.

Among the watch and wait company at the White House for the past three days was R. BARNWELL RHETT, of the Charleston Mercury, son of Hon. R. B. RHETT. Mr. RHETT finally got an audience with the President, and with an assumption of great importance, proffered his advice to Mr. JOHNSON as to the policy that should be pursued toward the South, etc. Mr. RHETT then visited the Freedmen's Bureau, and stated to Gen. HOWARD that his family had some negroes, several hundred in all, in Alabama, for whom he wanted an order of transportation, that they might be brought at government expense to South Carolina, where it appears these negroes belong, and whence they were hurried by their owners when Gen. SHERMAN arrived in Savannah, and was threatening the liberation of slaves under military occupation. Mr. RHETT made this absurd demand in such an arrogant, impudent manner, that Gen. HOWARD was compelled to order a guard to eject the offender, but RHETT vamosed before the order could be executed.

THE BRISCOE TRIAL.

The trial of Brevet Brig.-Gen. JOSEPH W. BRISCOE, by court-martial, was resumed this morning. Col. C. W. ASSMUSSON, Assistant Provost-Marshal in the War Department, was examined. Witness on the 28th day of September, received an order from the Assistant Secretary of War to dispatch detectives to Lynchburg; did so; Gen. BAKER being sick, on the 27th was ordered there myself, to report to Gen. CURTIS; met one of our detectives, JOHN ODELL; went to see Gen. ALBERGER and found Gen CURTIS had been informed of the plot on the previous evening; went to him for orders; we consulted, and I went to see Gen. ALBERGER, who gave me some information; I learned that Gen. BRISCOE was going to perpetrate the act between twelve and one o'clock Friday, Sept. 29; I immediately stationed the detectives around the building and went into Gen. CURTIS' room to await the signal; also sent for Gen. CURTIS, who came, and about five minutes after he arrived the signal was given; went with him into the Quartermaster's room to find the key of the safe; it was missing, and he went with me to Gen. BRISCOE's room, arrested him and turned him over to witness; ordered ODELL to search him, and went to a chest in the room and found certain packages which I took out, and asked Gen. BRISCOE where he got them; he made no answer; witness asked him what he had done with the key; he said he had'nt got it; went to the Quartermaster's room; found the key broken off in the safe; took it out and brought it to Gen. CURTIS; told Gen. BRISCOE to pack up such effects as he wished to take to Washington; then I dispatched an officer to a station, seven miles from Lynchburgh, to arrest a man named LACKEY on the train; the officers brought him, and I found on him a wax impression conforming to the false key of the safe; [key and wax produced and identified]; witness forgot to state that after the arrest one of the officers called witness' attention to certain articles burning in front of the fireplace; brought them to the Surgeon-General's office to have them analyzed; in witness' opinion they were nothing but sand-paper and a piece of coat-lining; a letter signed J. C. B. and addressed to Mrs. H. BENNET, No. 79 Marion-street, New-York; the letter is addressed inside to "Dearest H.," and simply states that the writer had been arrested; that his letters from her, which would have to be opened, should be addressed to the care of Gen. L. C. BAKER, War Department; the witness stated this letter was handed him by Capt. NEVINS. to be forwarded, but Gen. BAKER refused to allow it to go.

Cross-examined by Gov. Ford—Witness first had conversation on this subject on the 21st of September; a dispatch which had been received at Gen. BAKER's office which had been sent to the Secretary of War by Capt. ALBERGER. Q.—Did you talk with Hon. THOMAS T. ECKERT, Assistant Secretary of War, on this subject. Objected to by the Judge-Advocate. After some discussion upon the admissibility of the question between Mr. FORD and the Judge-Advocate, the court was cleared for deliberation.

A PRESENT FOR THE LIEUTENANT-GENERAL.

Gen. GRANT is the recipient of a novel present from the Ladies' Social Circle of Eureka, Humboldt County, California. It is a silk bed-spread, one side of which is composed of red and white stripes of silk, while the other is blue silk ground, upon which are neatly wrought in the national colors thirty-six miniature flags—one for each State, with the name of each embroidered upon the blue ground of each little flag. In the centre is the coat of arms, and motto, E pluribus unum, with the following inscription embroidered in yellow silk: "To Lieut.-Gen. GRANT, U. S. A., from the Ladies' Social Circle of Eureka, Humboldt, California." The article brought $800 at a Sanitary Commission Fair in California.

FROM RICHMOND.

The Richmond correspondent of the Times sends the following dispatch:

RICHMOND, Thursday, Oct. 5.

Mr. C. J. P. DIMITRY, who was arrested and consigned to the city jail last Saturday for an offensive article in the Commercial Bulletin, has been released to-night on signing the following parole:

OFFICE COMMANDANT OF PRISONS,
LIBBY PRISON, Oct. 5, 1865.

I, CHARLES J. P. DIMITRY, hereby give my solemn parole of honor that I will not leave the City of Richmond without permission of Maj.-Gen. TERRY, commanding Department of Virginia, or his successor in office; and that while this parole is binding, I will not criticise, write or publish anything concerning the administration of the Government of the United States. This parole to continue binding until canceled by the highest military authority existing at the time in this State.

CHAS. P. J. DIMITRY.

Witness—Lieut. L. HOYSRADT, Second Lieutenant, 80th N. Y. S. M.

LOYALISTS FROM KENTUCKY.

GARRETT DAVIS and his confreres in the effort to remove Gen. PALMER from the command of the Department of Kentucky, arrived here this morning. They will seek an audience with the President and Secretary STANTON to-morrow. It is not believed here that the Davis delegation will succeed in their mission.

GEN. GRANT.

Lieut.-Gen. GRANT and Staff arrived in this city this morning, from the late extended tour West, after an absence of about two months, during which time they have visited nearly every city of importance in the Northwest. Gen. GRANT during the day was in consultation with the President and the Secretory of War.

CABINET MEETING.

The Cabinet meeting, to-day, was brief. Four of the Secretaries, SEWARD, MCCULLOCH, HARLAN and SPEED are absent. They were represented by their assistants.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Oct. 6.

THE TUNIS EMBASSY.

The ambassadors from Tunis will doubtless meet with a cordial welcome from this government. They are expected to arrive here to-morrow, and hotel accommodations have been engaged for them by the State Department.

FREEDMEN'S AFFAIRS.

Reports received at the Freedmen's Bureau represent that the colored lessees of farms in Arkansas are doing well and raising large crops, while other freedmen have interests in the crops being raised by planters.

THE CABINET.

The only members present at the brief session of the Cabinet, to-day, were Postmaster-General DENNISON and Secretaries STANTON and WELLES, the other members being absent from the city.

THE BRISCOE TRIAL.

Col. ARHMUSSEN, of the Provost-Marshal General's Department, testified in the BRISCOE trial to-day, in corroboration of the evidence previously given against the accused. The witness, with Gen. CURTIS, went into Gen. BRISCOE's rooms and arrested him. The prisoner was searched, and the stolen property was found in a chest in the room.

REVENUE COMMISSIONER.

ISAAC MORGAN has been appointed by the President Direct Tax Commissioner of the State of Alabama.

THE WIRZ TRIAL.

The Wirz trial was commenced on the 26th day of August. The prosecution examined 125 witnesses, the number of days required for which was 23, the record making 2,868 foolscap pages. The defence was opened on the 26th day of September. The number of witnesses subpenaed is 106; examined thus far 17, and 55 have reported themselves.

MEXICO.

Semi-official news was received here to-day from the State of Chihuahua. The Mexican Gen. VILLAGA (Republican) attacked and took possession in August of the City of Paral, defended by the French. He inflicted great loss on the enemy. The Republican Gen. MEOGNI was killed in the battle. The French were coldly received in the City of Chihuahua. Gen. BRINCOURT circulated a proclamation, printed in the City of Mexico, stating that he had been welcomed by the people. The next day, however, he declared martial law in the State.

MAXIMILIAN's proclamation of the 5th of September is said practically to reëstablish slavery in Mexico. He calls the slaves workingmen and their masters patrons.

PARDONED.

Gen. B. G. HUMPHREYS is understood to have been pardoned by the President to-day. This will render him eligible to the Governorship of Mississippi, to which office it is probable he has just been elected.

RELEASED.

WALTER LENNOX, formerly Mayor of Washington, has, after a confinement of twenty-one months, been released from Fort McHenry. He left this city at the outbreak of the civil war, but was subsequently arrested in Baltimore, and imprisoned as above, on the charge or suspicion of being a rebel emissary.

UNNECESSARY CORRECTION.

By a telegraphic blunder an item in to-day's New-York papers was made to read as follows: "It is said that Mr. RUSSELL, Postmaster at Davenport, Canada West, has been removed, and that GEORGE N. SANDERS has been appointed in his stead." The true statement is, that Mr. RUSSELL, Postmaster at Davenport, Iowa, has been removed, and Gen. SAUNDERS has been appointed in his stead.

THE WIRZ MILITARY COMMISSION.

Further Testimony for the Defence.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Oct. 6.

The Wirz Military Commission reassembled this morning.

Augustus Kleich, of the Eighth Pennsylvania Cavalry, testified that he was taken as a prisoner to Andersonville; Capt. Wirz was sick in August, and continued so for a month; meanwhile, Lieut. Davis was in command; he never heard or saw Capt. Wirz shoot or injure a man.

Cross-examined by Col. Chipman—Witness was the hostler of Capt. Wirz, and obtained a place outside the stockade because there was not enough to eat within. Those outside obtained double rations; he drew clothing twice; he knew that Capt. Wirz was sick in August, because he heard so; Wirz would curse a man for nothing at all hardly, and would sometimes pull fellows along roughly.

Martin S. Harris, of the Fifth New-York Cavalry, testified that he was a prisoner at Andersonville from July 29 to Nov. 1, 1864. He was sergeant of a division of ninety men; on the 10th of September the prisoners commenced removing the dead line. It continued down until the middle of October. During the abolition of this post regulation the prisoners had unrestricted intercourse with everybody. About this time Capt. Wirz ordered a sutler to leave the stockade for extortion, telling the prisoners to help themselves from his stock of goods, reserving the potatoes and other vegetables for the sick. Capt. Wirz said to him and other sergeants that the camp had been reorganized, and that the provisions would be more abundant and regular. The Captain also increased the rations and supply of wood, and permitted the squads, under guard, to go out every day and cut and bring in wood. Such prisoners as had no blankets] and tents, were permitted to gather pine-tops. Witness never heard of Capt. Wirz shooting or maltreating any of the prisoners. He had never seen him commit actual violence, but had sometimes heard him curse the men. The main avenue of the prison was lined with stores and trading-places, while there were many itinerant venders of soap, candles, knives, and other things. Salt was sold by the bakers to the traders. It was thrown over the wall at night in bags. In the middle of October he wrote a note to Capt. Wirz, saying that owing to the way the salt was disposed of, the prisoners could not obtain a sufficient supply, and requested that some action be taken by him in the premises. Capt. Wirz immediately issued an order prohibiting the sale of salt in the stockade, and confiscating the supply in the traders' hands. After this there was a perceptible taste of salt in the bread.

Cross-examined by Col. Chipman—There were plenty of wells in the stockade, but those who acquired them by purchase or dug them kept them for their own use; they would sell a cupful of water for a chew of tobacco; a piece of tobacco two inches square and very thin would be sold for twenty-five cents; the water in the creek was never fit to drink; not being a trader, he had no extended opportunity for seeing all that was going on in the stockade; about twenty out of the division of ninety, under charge of witness died—ten of them in the stockade. principally of diarrhea—six of the remainder were too sick to travel to Millen; he saw men die for the want of proper food, and not because of a lack of a sufficient quantity of it; they could not eat the corn-bread because their mouths were too sore with scurvy; the witness was never in any battle; he was captured by Gen. Early's advanced guard; there was not lying by him at the time either a jug or a bottle of whisky; he, however, could not tell how drunk he was at the time of his capture; he was lying with his face down, asleep, when the rebels pounced upon him and took him prisoner.

The witness said that he had written several letters to the New-York Daily News purporting to give a plain statement of facts to see that justice was done to a fellow man. He selected that paper because he was acquainted with the editor, who was a personal friend of his.

Q.—Do you not know that that paper was in sympathy with the rebellion. A.—I do not.

Q.—Did you not know it was called a "Copperhead sheet," and justly so, and did you not know that it attacked the government during the war. A.—I never knew its character until recently; I did not know when I wrote the letters what kind of a paper it was; I was asked by one of the editors to give the public any information on the subject I could, and I did so.

Mr. Schade, the prisoner's counsel, here interposed, saying that he found that the New-York Daily News was a loyal paper, supporting the policy of President Johnson. He therefore did not know why it should be called a "disloyal sheet."

Col. Chipman replied that he was very well aware why Mr. Schade did not see it.

Mr. Schade said that no objection whatever was taken when newspapers attacked the prisoner, but when one of them says a word in his defence offence is taken.

Col. Chipman remarked that the competency of a witness was the basis of all testimony. If he be in sympathy with the rebellion without being in the war, and put himself in connection with these against the government, and seek an interview with the editors of rebel sheets, proffering his services and writing letters in accordance with his sympathies, it was proper to show that he was not a competent witness. This witness on the stand would be shown in sympathy with the rebellion.

Mr. Baker said that he had not thus endeavored to impeach the witnesses of the government. When he did so, he hoped that he might be pitched out of the window.

Col. Chipman replied that when such a cloud of witnesses had testified as to the horrors of Andersonville, and when he found that this witness, their comrade in arms, had testified that Andersonville was a land overflowing with milk and honey, he suspected such a witness, and would attack him under all circumstances, because he did not believe that the presumption was in his favor. He owed this much to the suffering Union prisoners who periled their lives in defence of their country, and against whom there was not a shadow of discredibility.

Mr. Baker replied that what the Judge-Advocate proposed to do was legitimate, but the manner in which it was continued did more credit to his heart than to his head. As an adviser of the court the gentleman did not do justice to the prisoner. He was governed too much by his zeal. The Judge-Advocate must understand that counsel claim that all which had been brought out by the prosecution concerning the prison at Andersonville was not true as attaching to Capt. Wirz, and further they intended to do all they could to counteract any wrong impressions made upon the mind of the court. They had put and would put respectable witnesses on the stand to remove such impressions. If they could do away with the testimony of the government witnesses they would do so.

Mr. Baker then asked that this grave trial should not be brought down to the level of a case before a Justice of the Peace, where everybody is either insulted or offended.

Col. Chipman said: As to the duties of a Judge-Advocate while in theory, according to the writers on military law, he is both the counsel for the accused and for the government, that theory is exploded when the accused himself selects counsel; and when, like this defendant, he is attended by friends and counsel, in the front and rear, it removes the obligation of the Judge-Advocate to act as his counsel.

Mr. Baker said that the questions were irrelevant, and therefore ought not to be asked.

The court did not sustain Mr. Baker's objection.

The cross-examination of the witness was then resumed.

The witness said that he saw Benjamin Wood, the proprietor of the Daily News, twice in his office; he went to him to make a correction in his letter; he published two letters in the News about affairs at Andersonville; he did not know how he came to be subpœned.

The witness further said that he wrote letters for the Brooklyn Eagle.

In reply to a question asked by Col. Chipman, the witness said that he did not know that the Brooklyn Eagle was more disloyal to the government than the Daily News. Anticipating the trial, he had written a defence of Capt. Wirz.

Question—Don't you think it remarkable that you selected the New-York Daily News and Brooklyn Eagle?

Answer—I had never heard the character of the Daily News for loyalty, and I considered the Eagle a first-rate Democratic newspaper.

Mr. Schade again objected to the questions of the Judge-Advocate on the ground that the News and Eagle were not on trial here, and, as he understood, that they were both loyal, and sustained the policy of President Johnson.

The court overruled Mr. Schade's objection.

Frederick Roth then testified as to affairs at Andersonville.

Miss Mary Rawson testified that she lived near Andersonville, and frequently carried food to one of the Union prisoners; Capt. Wirz had never refused or denied her any privileges that she had asked of him; he was always agreeable and willing that she should bring anything to the prison; she never heard of Capt. Wirz treating any lady in an unkind way; the name of her prisoner, as she called him, was Peter Keen, of the Sixteenth Iowa Regiment.

Rev. E. Duncan, Minister of the Gospel and attached to the Tennessee Methodist Episcopal Conference, testified that in August, 1864, he preached to the Union prisoners; he obtained a pass from Capt. Wirz to go in at will; witness also visited Andersonville in the following February; he stayed there a week each time; his mission proper was to preach to the Florida Artillery.

Cross-examined by Col. Chipman: When his State (Tennessee) went out of the Union he was identified with the act; he went with his country; he was a man of one work, preaching to souls everywhere; he never thought that religion should be mixed up with politics.

Col. Chipman here asked a question affecting the loyalty of the witness.

The reverend gentleman asked, "Is that a proper question?"

Col. Chipman said it was, and informed the witness that he was at liberty to refuse to answer any question that would involve him in the crime of treason.

The witness replied that he was subject to the powers that be, and that ought to be a sufficient answer.

The court overruled an objection raised by Mr. Baker, when Col. Chipman asked, "Did you ever take an oath of loyalty to the Confederate Government?"

The Witness—I did not; I never was connected with the army in any way.

Several other witnesses were then examined, when the court adjourned.

THE CASE OF MR. A. H. STEPHENS.

Interesting Statement of President Johnson's Views.

The Atlanta (Ga.) New Era of Sept. 27 publishes a correspondence between GEO. W. ADAIR and B. H. BIGHAM. Mr. ADAIR asks Mr. BIGHAM to say whether there is not in his opinion something that can be done to secure the release of Mr. STEPHENS now confined at Fort Warren. Mr. BIGHAM replies as follows:

LA GRANGE, Sept. 27, 1865.

Geo. W. Adair, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: In reply to yours of 26th inst., which has just come to hand, I state that during my recent visit to Washington, I had the honor to submit to the President a petition in behalf of Mr. STEPHENS in substance as follows:

To His Excellency Andrew Johnson, President of the United States:

At the time when ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS retired from the public service of the United States, a few years since, he had been longer a member of the House of Representatives than any other person having a seat in that body. It is true that there were some who did not entirely agree with him in sentiment, but no man was listened to with more profound attention, and there were none who questioned the pure integrity of his motives, or who doubted the great value of his voice in the councils of the nation. Thus, for weary years did he give to his country the effectual labors of the prime and vigor of his manhood. The physical condition of Mr. STEHHENS is, at best, but frail. The labors above referred to, so unremittingly and patriotically rendered by him, made great drafts upon the powers both of his intellect and his body, so that it is believed to be dangerous for him to remain in a climate so damp and so far North as Fort Warren. He needs at this time the quiet repose which home alone affords.

Your Excellency having long been in the public service yourself, has enjoyed the means of knowing the character of Mr. STEPHENS, and you cannot doubt but that he will carefully observe any parole you see fit, in due regard to your sense of duty as Chief-Magistrate of the Union, to place him under.

Will you not therefore consider the representations herein made, together with the many representations and petitions which other friends have made in his behalf, and his eminent worth as a man, and grant him a permit to return to his home in Georgia, subject to any order your Excellency may hereafter see fit to issue in the premises.

In submitting this petition, well knowing the strong current of sympathy and admiration that exists for Mr. STEPHENS, (so forcibly referred to in your letter,) I reminded the President that I could as well bring five hundred thousand signatures to it as one. Upon his saying that he doubted the correctness of the statement, as to the comparative length of Mr. STEPHENS' public services, I replied that it might be modified then to terms which no man speaking in the light of history would question so as to set forth that for a long series of years Mr. STEPHENS has rendered service, which was as effectual for good, as national, aye, as continental in its character as that of any man who has figured in the public councils for the last half century, and that his health was impaired by that service. The President said, in substance, that he appreciated the services referred to; that the government would give due consideration to the matters involved in the case, and in due time. Meanwhile he desired it understood that every attention was paid to his health at Fort Warren, and that he was treated considerately and humanely. The conversation then took wider range. The President, referring to the fact that Ex-Govs. BROWN and JOHNSTON, and Judge LINTON STEPHENS, had recently had interviews with him on the subject, said he thought Mr. STEPHENS himself quite capable of presenting his own case; but that his friends nevertheless urged his release with great pertinacity and solicitude. To that I replied that, if indeed Mr. STEPHENS was at that time silent, I had no explanation to offer, as I had no communication with him for some time—that I spoke in behalf of myself as one of his friends, and of thousands in the country whose hearts would bound with joy at the release of the great statesman. The President closed this conference without any promise and without any encouragement.

A few days afterward, having received letters from Mr. STEPHENS, (who had heard of my presence in Washington, but did not know of the petition,) also one whom Judge LINTON STEPHENS who is now, by permission of the authorities, spending some time with his brother in Fort Warren, I again called upon the President to present some additional views therein set forth, together with reflections suggested. The President received me kindly. I referred to his remark in the previous conference about Mr. STEPHENS' capability to speak for himself and proposed to read one of the letters. To this he assented, which being done, I endeavored to urge that the condition of the freedmen on his place, and the fact that Mr. STEPHENS had been acting in a fiduciary capacity, such as guardian, administrator, &c., and had been attorney for many persons in important cases made his temporary presence at home important to the interests of others. I also referred to the fact so eloquently touched upon in your letter, that he had resisted secession with a sublime courage, and that now he is the only political prisoner from Georgia; that his health is feeble and we would feel it an additional personal favor for him to be released before the departure of Judge STEPHENS, so that he might accompany and assist him on the route home. The President did not terminate this conference so abruptly as the former one. In its progress he said, "the government, he trusted, did not forget the sacrifices of any public servant—that indeed it would seem hard if in the day of misfortune such sacrifices should not be permitted to plead for him; but that there was a time for all things, which he hoped the friends of Mr. STEPHENS would understand and duly appreciate. That acting as Chief-Magistrate, he must have a due regard to the general tranquility and the good of the whole country."

I also had interviews and correspondence with several members of the Cabinet on the subject, who expressed themselves with magnanimity; but nevertheless with some reticence and statesmanlike circumspection on the subject. The Secretaries of War and of the Navy were absent from the city; and, as my own stay was necessarily brief, (being called back to Georgia on public business, deemed by me of importance at once to be performed,) I did not see either of them.

When I left Washington confident hopes were entertained that the petition would be granted in a very short time, especially as a temporary parole had just been allowed to Mr. HUNTER, to return to Virginia. I turned over the papers to Ex-Gov. JOHNSON, who has doubtless urged every consideration the case requires prudently, but earnestly and efficiently (far more so than I could) upon the mind of the President. A petition was also expected from the North in Mr. STEPHENS' behalf. I have since been informed that such an one, headed by Ex-Mayor OPDYKE and other liberal minded Republicans, had been prepared and forwarded. * * * * * * * *

In closing permit me to express the gratification I experience as the result of my observations during my recent visit North. There is magnanimity and a disposition to cement the reorganization of the Union in the strong bonds of friendship on the part of the President, and his administration. There is magnanimity amongst the people; and with the exception of a few fanatics who still urge extreme measures, they all admire the gallantry of the Southerners, and are willing to do us justice. They say our faith is pledged; and they will confide in our fidelity. We will not disappoint such confidence.

Yours very truly and respectfully,
B. H. BIGHAM.

The Episcopal Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, Oct. 6.

The convention reassembled at 10 o'clock.

Dr. HIGBEE, of New-York, stated that two deputies from Tennessee were present, but owing to the absence of the Secretary of that diocese, were unable to present their credentials. He moved that the names of the Tennessee deputies be placed on the rolls, which was carried.

The Committee on Canons, appointed yesterday, reported in favor of the adoption of a new canon, forbidding the clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church from entering the military or naval service of the United States, except in the capacity of chaplains; or to enter any military or naval school except as chaplains or professors of instruction.

A message was received from the House of Bishops, inclosing an address from the Protestant Episcopal Church in Canada to the Convention of Clerical and Lay Delegates of the United States of America.

Rev. Dr. BEVIN, of Canada, was presented to the convention, and made a few remarks. He is Prolocutor of the Canadian Synod, and author of the well-known catechism bearing his name, and visits Philadelphia as the bearer of the address above mentioned.

Rev. Dr. FULFORD, Lord Bishop of Canada, also made a few remarks relative to the connection between the church in England and America.

The question was discussed of altering the canon, which allows Bishops to distribute Easter alms.

A motion to recommit the question with instructions was lost, and the committee discharged from the consideration of the subject.

Rev. Dr. CUMMINS then rose and offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That this House offers its profound gratitude to God that we have among us our brethren, the clerical and lay deputies, from the Dioceses of Texas, North Carolina and Tennessee, and that we recognize their presence in our midst as a token and pledge of the future and entire restoration of the union of the Church throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Judge SPALDING, of Ohio, hoped the resolution would not pass. We were glad to receive our brethren from the seceded States, but he was opposed to getting down in humiliation to them. We are glad to see them, but he considered the passage of such a resolution as a premium for rebellion. He was entirely opposed to it.

Mr. TARNELL, of Pennsylvania, moved to lay the matter on the table.

The motion to lay the resolution on the table was lost by yeas 44; nays 44.

Dr. HARE hoped the resolution would pass the house by a large majortty. He abhorred slavery. He was pained at the degraded condition in which the colored race was kept at the North. But if we work with the feelings of patriots, we ought to remember how large a part of the Episcopal Church is implicated at the South. If we can hold out the olive branch to our brethren of the South, we ought to do so. He was surprised at the objection made by a member of this house to the resolution, which he considered entirely inoffensive. He welcomed our brethren of North Carolina, Texas, and Tennessee, with open arms. He was glad to see them here. Their presence gladdened our hearts.

Rev. Mr. CUMMINS had trusted that when the resolution was offered it would have passed without debate, and in the spirit which had been expressed by the last speaker.

Dr. HOWE also urged the passage of the resolution. He fully concurred in the sentiments expressed by his colleague.

The resolution then passed.

The question of provincial organization of dioceses was then called up.

Mr. RUGGLES, of New-York, moved to refer the question to the Committee on Canons, but afterward considered that by referring the matter to a special committee the brethren of Tennessee, Texas and the seceded States could act in harmony with the delegates of the Northern States. He gladly withdrew the motion to refer the question to the Committee on Canons.

Dr. VINTON, of New-York, suggested that the matter be referred to a committee of one from each diocese.

Rev. Dr. WHARTON declined to accept the amendment, as he believed a committee of nine would be as fully competent to attend to the duties as a larger one.

Judge OTIS said that he had moved for a committee of nineteen with the view of reorganizing the dioceses of the whole country.

Dr. MASON, of Maryland, asked for the reading of the resolution which had been offered yesterday.

The resolution was accordingly read.

Dr. MASON then continued his remarks. The committee could only consider the subject, and make a report to the convention. No definite action could be taken by them, and a small committee could act as effectually as a large one.

Judge OTIS accepted an amendment making the committee consist of thirteen gentlemen.

Dr. WHARTON also accepted the amendment.

Mr. WM. WELSH would like to see the Church throughout our whole land working harmoniously before any question, which would commit the convention to any particular course of action, was adopted.

Dr. MAHAN, of Maryland, moved that the report of the committee be made at the next convention, and not at this one.

The remainder of the session was occupied in discussing the proposed new canon relative to clergymen entering the military or naval service except as chaplains.

The North Carolina Convention.

RALEIGH, Friday, Oct. 6.

The convention to-day passed the ordinance declaring that the ordinance of May 20, 1861, is and always has been null and void. The vote to strike out all after the enacting clause, and insert the substitute, was 94 to 19. The final vote on the passage of the ordinance was unanimous.

Oil Market.

NEW-BEDFORD, Friday, Oct. 6.

Sales were made to-day of 600 bbls. Sperm Oil, at $2 30 ₱ gal.; 50 bbls. do. inferior, on private terms. Nothing doing in Whale Oil.

GOV. FENTON'S INVESTIGATION

THE FOURTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

ARGUMENTS OF COUNSEL.

The Case Concluded, and a Decision to be Rendered in a Few Days.

The investigation into the charges of corruption against the Street Cleaning Commissioners was resumed at 11 A. M. yesterday, before Gov. FENTON.

Of counsel for the defence only Mr. JOHN GRAHAM and ex-Judge ALLEN were present.

The evidence being all in, Judge ALLEN said that as the charges had not been proved against his client, Mr. DEVELIN, he should move that the case as it now stands be dismissed.

Mr. LAWRENCE, of Counsel for the Comptroller, said he should persue the same course as Mr. ALLEN. The answer of his client had already been submitted to His Excellency. As for the general charges against the Comptroller, he objected decidedly to the hearing of them being delegated to a referee.

The Governor suggested that counsel should proceed with their arguments on the evidence as submitted.

MR. WATERBURY'S REMARKS.

Mr WATERBURY maintained that, with some trifling exceptions, the charges against the commissioners had been fully proved. It was not necessary to prove corruption in order to justify his Excellency in removing them from office. Inefficiency was a sufficient justification. It was for his Excellency to say whether the contract was honestly awarded or not. It would, perhaps, be impossible to prove that money had passed. A conclusion must be formed on the general facts. Mr. BOOLE, in defiance of the law, said he was not going to make a contract, as he did not deem such action for the interest of the city. Nevertheless when his associates voted for a contract he went in with the rest. This conduct, to say the least, was suspicious. Counsel then reviewed the action of the commissioners in relation to receiving and returning the bids. He maintained that by returning them unopened they had clearly violated the law and rendered themselves amenable to the action of His Excellency. The real reason for not opening the bids, was because Mr. BROWN, one of the principal contractors, had not put a bid in. Mr. BROWN had admitted this was the case, though he says the remark was only made as a joke. The contract was afterward awarded to Mr. BROWN, and one of his sureties was a gentleman connected with the Corporation Counsel's office. Counsel then reviewed the changes made in the specifications, all of which changes he declared were for the interest of the contractors, and not for that of the city. One of these changes related to the work to be done during the Winter months, by which, in the amended specifications, it was left entirely to the discretion of the commissioners as to how much work should be done. Another was to allow the commissioners to designate when the gutters should be washed out. This change, the Recorder had stated when on the stand, was made because otherwise the contractrs would not be able to obtain the Croton water for the purpose. Now, in this the Recorder must have been mistaken; because, according to the specifications, the contractors were allowed the free use of Croton water. Counsel also referred to other amendments in the specifications, all of which, he argued, were made against the interest of the city, and consequently the commissioners might justly be suspected of wrong intentions in making them. Counsel then spoke of the bids of the New-York Sanitary and Chemical Compost Company, which company, he argued, were perfectly able to make a valid contract with the city to do the work of street cleaning. The Recorder and Corporation Counsel were, he knew, of a different opinion, and that opinion in a measure bound the other Commissioners, but he was at a loss to conceive how they could ever have arrived at such a decision. The lowest formal bid was that of MCCAFFERTY, GUIDET and KINGSLEY. This was rejected without any reason being assigned therefor. The contract, he maintained, was a corrupt job. The specifications were made to suit BROWN, DEVOE & KNAPP, and the contract was then awarded to them. Mr. BROWN had admitted in his evidence that there were secret partners in the contract, but he did not state who these partners were. It would be interesting to know. In conclusion, Mr. WATERBURY said that if these corrupt officials were removed from office, there would be a chance for the people to replace them with honest men. It had been said that if His Excellency removed them he would thereby make martyrs of them, and the people would reëlect them. He, counsel, did not believe any such rumors. He called on the Governor to exercise his undoubted right and to show these men that there was a power above them which could punish them for their misdeeds. The people looked to His Excellency with hope and confidence for prompt and decided action in this matter.

MR. JOHN GRAHAM'S REMARKS.

After thanking His Excellency for the courtesy extended to him and his associates, Mr. GRAHAM said that he took a different view of the judicial power of His Excellency to that taken by His Excellency himself, but he would not argue that point now. He maintained that the charges against his client had not been proved. He was unable to discover anything in the evidence to call for an answer on the part of his client. Had his judgment been followed out, he would have moved, as soon as the evidence was all in, to dismiss the case with a rebuke from His Excellency to those who had brought the charges. He would not go into any analysis of the evidence. The address which His Excellency had just listened to, contained no principle of law. If the argument of Mr. WATERBURY proved anything it was merely this, that a better contract might have been made. But this certainly was no sufficient cause for the removal of the commissioners from office. The charges against his client were contradictory. It was said in one set of charges that he was possessed of all the knowledge that was requisite for the important office he filled, while in the other charges it was alleged that he could not read or write. In regard to the legal points of the question, Mr. GRAHAM argued that the law was so indefinite that it really left the Governor without any power whatever in the removal of heads of departments. The law said they should be removed for cause, but did not state for what cause. If then it was left to His Excellency to decide that point, the law conferred on him despotic power which was entirely opposed to the principles of a republican form of government. Counsel read from "Story on the Constitution," showing what crimes and misdemeanors are impeachable, and if proved, would subject the criminals to removal from office by the U. S. Senate. He argued that even if all the charges made against his client were proved, that still the Governor could not remove him from office. This tribunal had certainly not more power than the Senate of the United States, and he had shown from the authority quoted, that the Senate had no power to remove an official on any such charges as those brought against his client. Supposing these men had shown political favoritism, or had made an error in judgment, were they to be removed from office for that? The President of the United States and the Governor himself conferred favors on political friends to the exclusion of others. If they were to be called to account for an error in judgment then the Governor or the President might some day be impeached for conferring offices on certain men when better ones could be found to fill them. The soul of crime was the intent, and in this case no bad intent had been shown. Mayor GUNTHER had denied that he acted either negligently or corruptly and the proceedings against him were dropped. The other commissioners made similar answers, but they are arraigned for trial. Not a word is said against the Mayor, although he had been urged by Judge WHITING to make a bold stand for the rights of the city. What was law and right in the Mayor's case should be law in the other cases. In regard to his client, Mr. BOOLE, he opposed all contracts, because he believed the laboring classes had a right to be protected, to get fair wages for their work and not to be ground down by contractors. Counsel then returned to the question of jurisdiction.

The Governor—Counsel will excuse me for interrupting him, but the question of jurisdiction is not under consideration. That I settled at Albany after careful consideration.

Mr. GRAHAM then went on to speak of Mr. BOOLE's conduct, saying that he could not have acted otherwise than he did. Had he refused to attend the meetings of the Commissioners, that would have been neglect of duty, and he would have been subject to a heavy fine and long imprisonment. Mr. BOOLE knew that street contracts had always failed, that contractors got them to sell, and so was opposed to the system. The Hackley contract was assigned, divided and subdivided to such an extent that further division was impossible. In conclusion, Mr. GRAHAM spoke of the high character of Recorder HOFFMAN, and moved that the case against his client, Mr. BOOLE, be dismissed.

MR. EMOTT'S REMARKS.

Ex-Judge EMOTT spoke of the power of the Governor to remove the heads of departments from office. He maintained that the Governor had the power, and that it was entirely competent for him to judge of the sufficiency of the course; that course might be incompetency, or corruption, or partiality to political friends. He maintained that an official might be removed on evidence or without. So soon as the Governor became convinced, no matter how, that an officer was incompetent it became his absolute duty to remove him. As to the course for removal in this case, the prosecution charged that they had done wrong. The defence said, "You have proved no corruption; you have not sworn the bribe into our pockets." He argued that the prosecution had shown a wrong committed, and one that was sufficient to warrant the removal of the commissioners from office. The duty of the commissioners was to stop the frightful expenditure of public money going on under Mr. BOOLE, and to have the city cleaned at a moderate expense. They commenced with an error in drawing up specifications, whereas they should have invited proposals for doing the work. It could not be supposed that these specifications would suit all parties, and the commissioners well knew they would not. As for the rejection of the bids of the Chemical Compost Manufacturing Company, he maintained that the company had the power to enter into a contract with the city, and in that opinion he was fortified by some of the most eminent legal talent in this city. He argued that the commissioners were bound to award the contract to the lowest bidder. The commissioners had not done so, and the onus rested on them to show why.

Mr. GRAHAM briefly responded to Mr. EMOTT's remarks, and the Governor then said that if counsel would leave their addresses with his Secretary, Mr. HASTINGS, he would communicate further with them in a few days.

FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

Freedmen Convention—The State Convention—Letters of Advice.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

RALEIGH, N. C., Sunday, Oct. 1, 1865.

The convention of the freedmen of North Carolina has been in session in the Methodist African Church in this city since last Friday. About one hundred and twenty delegates from different counties and townships in the State are present. So far the proceedings have not been very interesting except to the lookers-on. The organization was effected without trouble and with but little unnecessary delay. A President, seven Vice-Presidents, two Secretaries, Treasurer, Chaplain and two Marshals constitute the officers. The proceedings are conducted in a dignified and orderly manner, with a regard for parliamentary usages which is most assuredly unexpected. Some of the delegates, particularly Mr. J. H. HARRIS, of this county, exhibit intelligence of an extraordinary character, and all, with a few exceptions, have evinced a remarkably conservative and conciliatory spirit in their references to their late masters. Resolutions rejoicing over the emancipation, the recognition of Hayti and Liberia by our government, the admission of Mr. ROCK, a colored lawyer, to the bar of the Supreme Court, and the amendment to the Federal Constitution, have been adopted. Resolutions were also adopted pledging the freedmen to attend to the education of their children, to sustain the government and the Union, and approving the course of Messrs. CHASE, SUMNER, STEVENS and GREELEY in their efforts to obtain equal political rights for all men.

A most remarkable letter was read to the convention, addressed to its Secretary, from W. H. COLEMAN, Esq., of Cabarrus County in this State. Mr. COLEMAN has always been a prominent man in his county, and in 1855 represented it in the State Legislature. He is now County Solicitor, elected by the Justices appointed by Gov. HOLDEN, and is much respected socially by many of his neighbors. In this letter he takes unqualified ground in favor of the extension of the right of suffrage to the blacks, and in favor of admitting them into courts of justice as witnesses. With the exception of one or two others on the coast, he is the only citizen of the State who has publicly expressed such sentiments, and it is believed that he is alone in the section of the State east of Newbern, which section comprises nearly the whole of it.

The Constitutional convention called by proclamation of Gov. HOLDEN, meets to-morrow at 12 o'clock. The members have nearly all arrived, and canvassing is brisk. It is stated that letters from many of the prominent men of the North are here addressed to private persons, but intended for use in these caucusses. SIMON CAMERON is represented by a letter thirty pages long. Secretary STANTON's autograph, affixed to three or four pages of advice, is also here.

I am informed, on good authority, that a meeting of about twenty delegates elect occurred at the Yarborough House last night, at which a few pledged themselves to use their influence to send only those men to Congress who were "loyal to the South" during the war. A letter from an officer near to the head of the government was read, advocating the Botts doctrine of selecting ignorant rather than objectionable men, and begging North Carolina to "sacrifice her intellect" in the approaching elections rather than her chance of admission to the floor of Congress, but it had no effect. This was a small body of men—a clique, perhaps. Its influence will be felt on the convention, and it is to be hoped that it will be resisted.

A few delegates have been elected who were not qualified, on account of the exclusions of the Amnesty Proclamations. Pardons were telegraphed for, and some have arrived.

E. P. B.

The Governor's Message.

After the North Carolina State Convention had organized, Gov. HOLDEN sent in the following message:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, N. C.,
RALEIGH, Oct. 3, 1865.

Gentlemen of the Convention:

I do not deem it my duty, under the circumstances, to address you a formal and elaborate message in relation to public affairs. Your duties are too plain to require suggestions from me, and I entertain no doubt those duties will be promptly and faithfully performed.

North Carolina attempted, in May, 1861, to separate herself from the Federal Union. This attempt involved her, with other slaveholding States, in a protracted and disastrous war, the result of which was a vast expenditure of blood and treasure on her part, and the practical abolition of domestic slavery. She entered the rebellion a slaveholding State, and she emerged from it a non-slaveholding State. In other respects, so far as her existence as a State and her rights as a State are concerned, she has undergone no change. The President of the United States wisely determined that her existence as a State should not be extinguished, but that under that clause of the Federal Constitution which "guarantees to every State in the Union a republican form of government," her people, in convention assembled, might so alter and amend their constitution, and adopt such measures as would restore the State to her constitutional relations to the Federal Government, and thus secure once more to the people thereof the immeasurable benefits and blessings of the Union.

Allow me to congratulate you, gentlemen, upon the favorable circumstances which surround you, while engaged in this great work of restoring the State to her former and natural position. It is my firm belief that the policy of the President in this respect, which is as bread, as liberal and as just as the constitution itself, will be approved by the great body of the people of the United States; and that the period is not distant, if we are true to ourselves, and properly regardful of the reasonable expectations of our friends in other States, when our Senators and Representatives will resume their seats in Congress, and when our State will enjoy, in common with the other States, the protection of just laws under the constitution of our fathers. In the touching language of your most worthy presiding officer, "we are going home. Let painful reflections upon our late separation, and pleasant memories of our early union, quicken our footsteps toward the old mansion, that we may grasp hard again the hand of friendship which stands at the door; and sheltered by the old homesteads, which was built upon a rock, and has weathered the storms, enjoy together the long bright future which awaits us."

I take it for granted, gentlemen, that you will insert in the constitution a provision forever abolishing slavery or involuntary servitude in North Carolina; and that you will submit the constitution, when altered and amended, to the people of the State, at the ballot-box, for ratification or rejection. I do not doubt that the constitution, thus altered and amended, will be ratified by an immense majority of the people.

I send herewith the report of JONATHAN WORTH, Esq., Public Treasurer, setting forth the State debt, the condition of the sinking fund, and also a general view of the State finances, both at home and abroad. Also, reports from the banks and railroad companies, showing their condition; and reports from the Superintendent of the Insane Asylum and the Principal of the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb and Blind, containing statements of the condition of these institutions. I also send herewith a report from the Public Treasurer in relation to State property; to which, with the other reports referred to, I invite your careful attention.

It will afford me pleasure, gentlemen, to furnish you with any information in my possession which you may desire; and I beg you to be assured that I will be ready at all times to coöperate with you in such measures as may be deemed essential to promote harmony among our people, and to restore the State, at the earliest practicable period, to its constitutional relations to the Federal Government.

I have the honor to be, with much respect, Your obedient servant,

W. W. HOLDEN,
Provisional Governor.

LAW REPORTS.

The Court of Appeals.

ALBANY, Friday, Oct. 6.

The following is the day calendar of the Court of Appeals for Saturday, Oct. 7, 1865:

Nos. 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179 and 180.

Important to Taxpayers—Another Riot Claim Disposed of—The Plaintiff's Complaint Dismissed on his Own Evidence.

SUPERIOR COURT—PART I.—OCT. 6.

Before Justice McCunn and a Jury.

Squires L. Newbury vs. The Mayor, Commonalty, &c., of the City of New-York.—The plaintiff in this action kept a jewelry-store at No. 299 Tenth-avenue. In his complaint he alleges that on the 14th day of July, 1863, his store was broken open and property valued at $1,788 31 destroyed by a mob. For this amount, with interest thereon from the day the property was destroyed, he claimed judgment against the city. The action was brought and the city sought to be made liable, under and by virtue of an act of the Legislature of this State, passed in 1855. The testimony on the part of the plaintiff tended to show that on the second day of the July riots, in 1863, early in the morning, a friend of his called upon him and gave him information to the effect that the leading rioters had held a meeting and passed a resolution that they would sack his premises. Plaintiff had acted for a day or two as an enrolling officer under Capt. Manierre, and for that reason he was considered obnoxious to the majority of the rioters. Acting on this information he immediately barred and bolted his store in an unusual manner, and took his wife and child and went down town. This was but an hour or two before the mob destroyed his goods by breaking open his store and seizing upon everything therein, and breaking on the walk such property as they could not conveniently carry away.

When the plaintiff rested his case, the counsel for the city moved to dismiss the complaint on the ground that, inasmuch as the action was brought under a special legislative enactment, the law must be strictly construed. The statute, said the counsel, by virtue of which the plaintiff seeks to recover against the city, expressly declares that no person or corporation shall recover for injury to property done by a mob, unless the person or corporation who seeks redress shall allege and prove that he forthwith, after being informed of his danger, gave notice to the Mayor and Sheriff of the City and County of New-York. That there being no evidence that such notice had been given, the case should be dismissed. Plaintiff's counsel, in reply to the Corporation Counsel, said, that it was true, no notice was given to the Mayor, and for the very good reason that the Mayor of New-York was at that time flying from one place to another, in fear of his life. The plaintiff had done all that could reasonably be expected of him under the circumstances. On the evening before his entire property was destroyed, his only child had been sent to Police Captain WALLING, for assistance to protect the property and the lives of the plaintiff and his family. But the Metropolitan Police of this city had more than their hands full. The record of that memorable three days and nights in the City of New-York, showed that many a gallant policeman fell a victim at the hands of the infuriated mob. Counsel claimed that inasmuch as there was no dispute about the fact that plaintiff's property had been destroyed by the rioters, he ought not to be held to the strict letter of the law, which requires that notice shall be given to the Mayor and Sheriff.

The court said that he should construe the statute very strictly, and would therefore adjudge that the plaintiff, not having complied with all the provisions of the statute, his complaint must be dismissed.

The plaintiff's counsel asked that the court direct a verdict for the plaintiff for the amount claimed, subject to the decision of the court at General Term, on questions of law involved in the case.

Mr. Hackett, who represented the Counsel to the Corporation, said that the law of the case was important to the taxpayers. One thousand nine hundred and ninety-five suits had been brought against the city for damages growing out of the July riots. The amounts claimed were all the way up from five dollars to $300,000. The General Term and the Court of Appeals must very soon decide the important questions of law which have been presented in these cases, or else the City Treasury would be depleted beyond the hope of recovery.

The court said it was the duty of the judiciary to stand by the treasury, and for one he was going to do it. There should be no verdict for the plaintiff in this case, but he would direct that the legal questions be heard at General Term in the first instance, and would direct an order to be entered that in the meantime all proceedings be stayed.

For plaintiff, Mr. C. Shaffer; for defendants, Mr. Hackett.

Court of General Sessions.

Before Recorder Hoffman.

Patrick Walsh was placed on trial for stealing $400 from August Radika, an emigrant. It appeared that there was a mistake as to the identity of the prisoner, he being an Irishman, while the person who took the money was Dutch, and talked Dutch to the complainant.

William Wiggins was tried for being engaged with James Knox and an unknown man in garotting and robbing William H. Green of $575, on the 9th of July. The jury found the prisoner not guilty.

Charles G. Conant was tried for grand larceny, committed in taking and converting $500 belonging to F. R. Anderson. The circumstances were that the money-deliver of Adams Express Company called at No. 119 Fulton-street with a package marked F. R. Anderson, and containing $500, which he delivered to the prisoner who signed Anderson's name and his own after it. The complainant having previously received a telegram from Macon, Ga., ordering him as broker to purchase a quantity of bicarbonate of soda, and stating that the funds therefor would be sent immediately, inquired at the express office for the package, and the second time ascertained it had been delivered to the prisoner. He had previously given orders that none of his letters should be opened, but should be sent to his other office, but then found out that Conant had opened the package and used some of the money.

The defence showed that the prisoner and complainant were engaged in business as partners, had agreed to send an agent to Richmond, and that the complainant becoming dissatisfied wished to dissolve the connection; that Contant had taken measures to have the article purchased, and had acted fairly in the matter.

The jury disagreed as to a verdict, standing eleven to one.

PLEADED GUILTY.

Anthony Baffe alias John Burke, of burglary in the third degree, in entering the store of Karl Kline on the 3d of September; sent to the State Prison four years and six months. Charles Gilroy, of assault with a dangerous weapon, upon Louis Duffing; Penitentiary three years. John Anderson, of stealing, on the 23d of September, four hundred pounds of tea, belonging to Robert Seaman; State Prison one year. Frank Donnelly, of stealing, on the 15th of September, articles to the value of $250, from John A. Pettengill; State Prison two years.

SENTENCES.

The following persons having been personally convicted, or pleaded guilty, were sentenced: James Connors and John J. Williams, grand larceny, Penitentiary two years; Wm. E. Johnson, petit larceny, Penitentiary two years; Richard Lupple, grand larceny, State Prison two years; Charles King, grand larceny, State Prison three years and six months.

Decisions.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM—OCT. 6.

By Justice Moncrief.

Annie Lippiotts, by her guardian, &c., vs. John Lippotts; motion granted and the cause referred to a referee to report, &c. Edward Pendergrast vs. Jarvis N. Loke; motion granted; complaint to be filed within five days after service of a copy of this order. Wm. H. Bolenick vs. The Exchange Fire Insurance Company; motion for a new trial denied with costs.

NEW-JERSEY.

ARREST OF A CONFIDENCE OPERATOR.—A fancy dressed individual, giving the name of WM. EDSALL, arrested by Officer HARNEY, was taken before Recorder MARTINDALE, of Jersey City, yesterday, on suspicion of having stolen a valuable single harness, which he had in a black traveling bag. On Wednesday, EDSALL went to a livery stable in New-York, and after telling some huge stories, employed a hack at $1 50 an hour, and after running up a bill of $15, gave the driver the slip, but was traced to the Jersey City depot, where he was apparently waiting for the departure of the Philadelphia train. The officer, being informed of the fellow's operations, and suspecting him to be a rogue, took him into custody. Yesterday EDSALL was identified as the man who attempted to pass a forged check of $120, drawn on the Sixth National Bank of New-York, at the Commercial Saloon, corner of Greene and Montgomery streets. The accused was held for examination.

HUDSON COUNTY DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.—The delegates to the Democratic County Nominating Convention met at DOYLE'S, No. 51 Newark-avenue, Jersey City, yesterday afternoon, and organized by electing CHARLES H. O'NEIL Chairman, and CHRISTOPHER MILLS as Secretary. The following were the nominations made, the only contest being for the Sheriffalty and for Coroner in Jersey City:

For State Senator—CHARLES H. WINFIELD, of Jersey City.

For Sheriff—JOHN H. MIDMER, of Greenville Township.

For Coroners—Alderman PATRICK DUFF, of Jersey City; GEORGE S. ANERY, of Hoboken, and MARTIN HANLEY, of Hudson City.

ARREST OF SNEAK THIEVES.—Yesterday afternoon two genteel-appearing young men were arrested by Officer CARROLL, who had been watching their movements, charged with having stolen a lady's work-box from the residence of Dr. ZABRISKIE, No. 237 York-street, Jersey City, where they managed to gain admittance, under the pretence of wishing to engage the services of the doctor. The cards of Drs. MOLIN and CRAIG were found in their possession. They were held for examination.

FRIDAY, Oct. 6—P. M.

The "ring" of speculators for a large rise in Gold, which was formed three or four days ago, advanced their bidding to-day to 148½@149 ℘ cent., but were suddenly met by sellers for prompt delivery, and the price ran down to 146⅞ ℘ cent., or ½ ℘ cent. below the quotation of Thursday afternoon. The speculation from 144 ℘ cent. and upwards has been conducted on the assumption that the Government, while continuing to receive from $500,000 to $700,000 per day for Gold Customs, had retired from the market as a seller. The temporary absence of the Secretary of the Treasury on a visit to the West rather encouraged this opinion. It is probable, however, from appearances this afternoon, that some mistake of calculation has been suddenly discovered. Either the Assistant Treasurer in New-York has reappeared through his Brokers in the Gold Room, or else the lively suspicion is entertained that he will do so in a day or two, and to no small figure of supply of Gold for prompt delivery.

The artificial and temporary rise in gold checked the business in Exchange for Saturday's steamers. The rate of business on London fell to 109½ ℘ cent. this afternoon, and on Paris to 5 francs 16¼@17½ centimes to the dollar. The leading importers are not inclined to be frightened by the manipulations of the Gold Room, and held off as remitters for the present mail. At the same time a fair supply of Merchant bills on England drawn against cotton appears in market, and we are apprised to-day that this operation is likely to be considerably enlarged in season for the mails of next week.

The Money-lenders at Bank and on the Street have freely availed to-day of the suddenly-increased speculative business on the Stock Exchange to advance their rates, at call, on miscellaneous collateral, and 7 ℘ cent. was quite generally paid to carry over the New-York and Western Railways to-day, and 6 ℘ cent. on Governments. There was no lack of supply at the advanced rate, although the change of terms was not without its influence in checking the previous buoyancy of speculation. At the Afternoon Second Board, the pressure to sell the Railways on the state of the Money market was quite decided, and after the Board broke up there was a further yielding of prices. The extremes of the day on New-York Central were 98⅞@100@98⅛; on Erie, 92⅞@89⅞@89⅞; on Pittsburgh, 87@82⅞; on Michigan Southern, 84½@81; on Fort Wayne, 102@99½; on Rock Island, 113@111, and on Reading, 117½@116½ ℘ cent. The changes of price in Governments were not important, but a larger business was done than on Wednesday and Thursday, and the old 5-20s were active at 103⅛@103¼ ex-dividend.

At 4 o'clock, on Broad-street, (Open Board of Brokers,) the following quotations were finally made, as compared with the same hour on Thursday afternoon. The market on the Railways left off feverish. The greatest break was in Michigan Southern, to 79⅛:

The Gold Customs to-day are about $700,000, while the Gold Interest payments out of the Treasury are only $190,000. The Gold Customs for five days of the week are close on to three millions of dollars, or an average of $600,000 per day.

Bunce, of Hartford, Conn.; Henry Alexander, Jr., Springfield, Mass.; Albert W. Markley, Camden, N. J.; Amos Clark, Jr., Elizabeth, N. J.; Clarence H. Clark and Benjamin B. Comegys, Philadelphia, Penn.; Simon Cameron, Harrisburgh; Nathaniel Holmes, Pittsburgh; Edward Betts, Wilmington, Del.; Horatio R. Riddle, Baltimore, Md.; William S. Huntington, Washington, D. C.; Gilbert C. Walker, Norfolk, Va.; Hinman B. Hurlbut, Cleveland, Ohio; Truman H. Hoag, Toledo, Ohio; E. O. Grosvenor, Jonesville, Mich.; William A. Butler, Detroit, Mich.; Lucien Hills, Indianapolis, Ind.; Moses Fowler, La Fayette, Ind.; William F. Coolbaugh and Perry H. Smith, Chicago, Ill.; Edward H. Brodhead, Milwaukee, Wis.; Timothy Brown, Madison, Wis.; Ira M. Gifford, Davenport, Iowa; James E. Thompson, St. Paul, Minn.; Edward D. Jones, St. Louis, Mo.; William Osborn, Atchison, Kansas; George Adams, of Wheeling, West Va.; Benjamin E. Bates, Boston.

The officers are E. B. JUDSON, President; Thomas B. Fitch, Vice-President; Alfred Wilkinson, Secretary; Dudley P. Phelps, Treasurer, and Charles B. Sedgwick, Attorney. The Inspectors of Election: John E. Williams, C. P. Leverich, and H. F. Vail, of New-York City. The Executive Committee are: Edward B. Judson, George Bamer, W. R. Osborn, C. P. Williams, T. S. Faxton, A. W. Markley, J. E. Southworth, A. S. Murray, J. E. English, H. R. Riddle, Nathaniel Holmes, H. B. Hurlbut, W. F. Coolbaugh, Timothy Brown, E. D. Jones, H. Alexander, Jr.

The Company has a capital of four million dollars, subscribed by the leading Bankers, Railroad, and other substantial business men of the country. They propose to make immediate arrangements for the necessary facilities for carrying on a general Express business, which will be begun at an early day, and extended as rapidly as circumstances will permit. There is a public necessity for some competition in this vast business, and the names and character of the gentlemen engaged in this Company, are a sufficient guaranty for the safe and honorable conduct of its affairs.

The Evening Express erroneously reported the failure of Mr. GEORGO F. SALTEE, of the Stock Exchange Board. No such occurrence took place, and the proper apology will, no doubt, be made by the Stock and Money Reporter of the Express. The blunder created some talk in the Board this morning, where Mr. SALTER is much esteemed as a young commission broker and the successor of the late Mr. RAINSFORD.

The Evening Post has this explanatory paragraph in regard to the Englishman who disgraced the honored name of BARING by joining the Secesh league against the United States Government during our recent domestic troubles. He had nothing whatever to do with Messrs. BARING BROTHERS & Co. The senior of that house, Mr. THOMAS BARING, and the late JOSHUA BATES, also a member of the firm, were conspicuous for their support of our cause. If there was the slightest adverse or Secesh element in the concern pending the supposed doubtful issue of the war, it was in one of the small junior partners by the name of STURGES, and singular to say, a Boston man by birth:

"The ALEXANDER BARING whose name appears as one of the Southern Independence Committee is the eldest son of Lord ASHBURTON, and not a member of the house of BARING BROTHERS & Co., with which he has never been connected. The senior of the firm is THOMAS BARING, M. P., a steadfast friend of the North, son of the late Sir THOMAS BARING; the only other partner of the name of BARING is EDWARD CHARLES BARING, son of the late HENRY BARING."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

GENERAL NEWS.

A great mass meeting of negroes and freedmen was held at Edgefield, Tenn., on the 5th, six thousand persons being present. An address was made by Brig.-Gen. Fisk. He rejoiced that the negroes of Tennessee were free as God intended them to be. He told them that they must prove themselves entitled to freedom by industry, sobriety and integrity. His duty was to see that they discharge their duties. He would put the black man in the jury-box and on the witness-stand. His remarks were received with great enthusiasm. He was followed by several other speakers, after which the meeting adjourned. Gen. Fisk states that during the past week 600 or 700 negroes have been sent to their former homes in different parts of the State, and have contracted with their former owners to work for wages. Within a month there will be a general clearing out of negroes here, arrangements having been effected to procure them labor in different parts of the South.

Hon. A. H. Stephens is now occupying the room at Fort Warren known as "the headquarters," and, according to the Boston Traveller, seems to be enjoying better health than heretofore. He takes his accustomed afternoon walk, and seems to enjoy it. There are no intimations from Washington that he is to be speedily released.

The Republican's Los Vegas, New-Mexico, correspondent, under date of Sept. 15, says a gentleman from Santa Fé reports the arrival of Juarez at that place, supposed to be en route to the States. The report is doubtful. Col. Chaner has been elected delegate to Congress from New-Mexico by 1,500 majority over Col. Perea.

Fortress Monroe dispatches inform us that the sloop Alice, left Baltimore on the 14th of June (June 14—fourteen). The steamer Sheridan, came into Hampton Roads short of coal; and the steamtug Fearless had arrived from Boston. All this is important.

Dr. Mudd has been making an attempt to escape from Fort Jefferson. He did not succeed. Dr. Mudd was requested to exercise his muscles by wheeling sand, during the pleasure of the officer commanding.

At the Union Convention of the Third Assembly District of Westchester County, held at Croton Dam yesterday, Hon. Geo. A. Brandreth was renominated for Member of the Assembly.

The National Bankers' Express Company has completed its organization by the election of Edward B. Judson, President, and Alfred Wilkinson, Secretary. They are both at Syracuse.

Railroad communication with Mobile has been restored, and trains are running with a sort of regularity.

LOCAL NEWS.

In the Superior Court, yesterday, before Justice McCunn, Mr. S. L. Newbury, sought to recover the sum of $1,788 31 against the city for damages sustained to his property by the rioters, on the 14th of July, 1863. Plaintiff was a jeweler, doing business at No. 293 Tenth-avenue. He was also an enrolling officer under Capt. Manneirre, and for this reason he was obnoxious to many of the rioters. The plaintiff was notified by a friend a few hours before the attack was made, that the mob had decided to sack his premises. He accordingly double-barred his doors and windows, took his wife and child and left. These facts were undisputed, but the Corporation Counsel obtained a dismissal of the complaint on the ground that the plaintiff, when his friend informed him of the intended attack, did not forthwith call on the Mayor and the Sheriff of New-York for assistance, as is provided by the statute of 1865. An appeal will be immediately taken by the plaintiff to the General Term.

The grand officers of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons in Pennsylvania, have issued an appeal to the brotherhood in the United States to renew the bonds of union. They say: "We owe our country and the world the duty of our example. Let us make it manifest. Come among us, we will go among you. Your temple is our temple; your masonry our masonry; whither masonic teachings bid us go, let us go together. Brethren, we invite you, by the great glory of our indestructible Order, by the undying light which illumines our pathway to and from the communion of the craft, by your precept and example, and efforts among your fellow-countrymen, to begin the great work of reconciliation."

The Board of Fire Commissioners met yesterday at Fireman's Hall, Houston-street. Metamora Hose Company, No. 29, and Harry Howard Engine Company, No. 36, were relieved from duty, those members in good standing to be honorably discharged. Two new Metropolitan Steam Fire Engine Companies were also organized, one to be known as No. 14 the other No. 23.

Thomas Ryan, of No. 477 Ninth-avenue, a child of seven months, was thrown from a vehicle at Hunter's Point, on the 24th of August last, and almost instantly killed. The body was brought to this city, and buried under a forged certificate representing convulsions to have been the cause of death. Coroner Lewis, of Queens County, will disinter the corpse, on Monday, and institute proceedings against all persons concerned.

Michael Mackey and George Welsh were arrested, yesterday, and examined before Commissioner Stillwell upon a charge of passing counterfeit United States currency. In each of these cases it appeared that the men had attempted to pass specimens of the new counterfeit ten dollar greenback, mentioned yesterday. The evidence being pretty clear, his Honor committed them for trial.

Zeno Burnham, an auctioneer, whose place of business is at No. 44 West Sixteenth-street, was brought before the Mayor yesterday, on complaint of Mrs. E. A. Stebbins, who charges him with defrauding her, by a mock-auction swindle, out of $1.030. Burnham was held to bail in the sum of $5,000. He has been once or twice before the Mayor on somewhat similar charges.

The evidence against William D. Mann and Daniel Stratton, Jr., of the United States Service Petroleum and Mining Company, having been completed, yesterday, Mr. David Dudley Field, Jr., counsel for the defendants, moved the dismissal of the complaint, and Justice Dodge took the papers and reserved his decision.

The investigation into the charges of corruption, brought against the Street Cleaning Commissioners, was concluded by Gov. Fenton yesterday. The entire day was consumed by counsel in summing up. The Governor stated that he would review the evidence and communicate his views thereon in a few days.

Thomas H. Lyett, of No. 415 West Fifty-fourth-street, a child of 36 months, was poisoned, yesterday, by a prescription of morphine which Mr. Otto Graff, of No. 769 Eighth-avenue, is alleged to have carelessly given Mr. Lyett. An investigation is to be made, this morning, by Coroner Gover.

The Tunisian Ambassador and suite visited the Historical Society, Custom-house and Wall-street yesterday. In the evening they attended the Fair of the American Institute, and expressed themselves much pleased with what they saw.

In the case of Hamilton vs. Butler, which has been on trial several days in the Superior Court, the jury, after being out all of Thursday night, were discharged yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, being unable to agree upon a verdict.

An unusually active business was transacted in Flour, yesterday, at an average advance of 25c. ℔ bbl., making the rise for the week 60c.@$2 ℔ bbl. Wheat was also in lively demand, at an improvement of 3c.@10c. ℔ bushel, or 17c.@25c. ℔ bushel on the whole week. Corn was brisker and dearer. Pork and Beef were much higher, as were also Cotton, Petroleum and refined Sugars. The main inquiry for all these articles was from speculative buyers, though regular dealers were purchasing rather more freely, apprehending a further material advance. We give in our General Market summary comparative tables of the prices of the prime necessaries of life at the close of each of the last two weeks, which will indicate how rapid has been the appreciation of Flour, Grain and Provisions during the week now drawn to a close. The main cause of this great rise has been the unusually active speculative inquiry, coming not only from local operators but from Western merchants, who are encouraged to persevere in their movements by the prevailing ease in the money market. Freights were quiet, the very high prices current for domestic produce preventing the execution of foreign orders to any considerable extent.

The Stock Exchange was violently excited, yesterday, by the speculation in the Railways, and the extreme changes in the market were 3@4 ℔ cent. Government Stocks steady. Gold 146⅛ at the close. Money advanced to 7 ℔ cent. to the Stock Brokers. Exchange 109½ on London.

The Election—The Grand Democratic Combination Circus.

The Democrats are trying very hard to get their traveling circus into active operation. They started at Syracuse last week—under the immediate management of Brig.-Gen. John A. Green,—with some rather striking performances from the two well-known political gymnasts, Maj.-Gen. Slocum and Gov. Seymour. They threw some splendid summersets,—doubled themselves up, opened and shut like jack-knifes with the greatest ease and rapidity, turned their backs upon themselves and each other so quickly that it was impossible to say which was which, or when either of them was himself or anybody else in particular, and satisfied the spectators perfectly that neither of them had a bone in his body. They did some fine riding in the ring—though in the two-horse performance they were a good deal jostled and bewildered by the superior speed and mettle of the Republican nag. They did their best, by whip and spur, to keep the Democratic cob alongside—but "blood will tell"—and Republican, true to his descent and fired by the practice of the last four years, shot ahead of his untrained competitor whenever he liked, and gave both the riders one or two ugly falls. Manager Green lost his temper repeatedly, and with a good deal of difficulty dodged the horses, who came very near running over him; Democrat kicked at him viciously once or twice, but he plied the whip with vigor and tolerable effect.

As a whole, however, the Syracuse performance was tame. It lacked, what never fails to please—the clown. So John Van Buren bounded into the circus when it reached Albany, and with his old rollicking "here I am, you see"—did his best to put a little life and spirit into the performance. He deserved more success than he achieved. He evidently meant well—indeed, his efforts were so earnest and resolute as to be a little painful. He did the summerset very well—indeed, it would be impossible for him to fail in that. He has practised it so long that it has become a second nature with him—stronger than the first, a good deal. We really think John, from mere force of habit, finds it easier to turn a political summerset than to stand still. On no other supposition can we account for his doing it so constantly. His most intimate friends are so aware of this propensity, that they have ceased to mind it, and go right on talking, in spite of his flops, as though nothing had happened. It was a little significant that at Albany John didn't try the horses. They were brought in and trotted round, but he declined to mount. He thought Cagger had better do that:—though he hinted, with a slight touch of his old humor, that as the nags seemed a little restive, Dean Richmond being light and agile, could probably manage them better. John kept a sharp eye on Republican's heels, and tried once or twice to pat and soothe him into a tolerant mood. The horse said, as plainly as he could, with a horse-laugh, that he would like to get him on his back once! The fact is John's political joints are getting a little stiff, and some of his rivals in the ring think his pluck is failing. Dean hints as much, privately, but pretends not to notice it. For the sake of economy, Dean always runs an engine till it is used up. At all events, whatever the reason, John didn't ride.

We should be glad to stop here if we could; but justice compels us to add that John's jokes were very bad, and that in trying to lift the heavy weights he broke down utterly,—though his friends hope he did himself no serious injury. He used to be capital at jokes; but the best thing he said now was, that he had "always had influence enough in the Democratic party to defeat his own nomination." The audience seemed to be so struck with the truth of this that they didn't see the joke of it; and some of the more serious among them remembered, more in sorrow than in anger, that he had defeated other nominations as well as his own. What little laugh there was, seemed to be rather scornful than hilarious, but John didn't seem to see it "in those lamps," as Artemus Ward remarks.

But the heavy weights settled John's business. They were kept till the last—as the crowning tours de force. A Republican "fifty-six"—solid steel, brightly burnished,—stood on the Administration platform, and John undertook to take it off and put a Democratic statue, with a copper head, in its place. He couldn't do it. He tried to lift it, but, after nearly breaking his back, gave that up. Then he tried to push it—to pull it, to roll it over, but it stood immovable. He grew red in the face and then weak in the legs, and finally swore that it was a cheat. It was not a Republican weight at all. It was so labeled, it was true, and it was made by the convention at Syracuse and put on the platform by the Republican party; but Horace Greeley had made an affidavit that it was not genuine, and Charles Sumner and the Chicago Tribune had both sworn, that the regular Republican standard was made of wood, hollow, and painted black. That he could lift any day; but as for touching that heavy, shiny sham, he'd be d——d (defeated) if he tried it! So he swore a little, and laughed a little, and danced a little, and turned a summerset or two, and with a good deal of tugging lifted the copper figure-head, (which, after all, was very empty and light,) upon the platform, and called on the brass band to play "Hail Columbia," ostensibly for glorification, but really to cover his retreat. So the Argus beat the big drum, Judge Parker pulled the trombone "clear out," Cagger "fifed," and the audience slowly dispersed—wondering if that was all.

John's friends try to excuse his failure by attributing it to the absence of Manager Green. What the deuce, they say, can you expect of the clown when he is left alone in the ring? He's never worth a snap, if he misses the snap of the whip. And there may be something in this. There's some talk of changing the clown in the Grand Combination Circus—but we presume they'll travel with the whole of the old stock for the rest of the season.

New Application of Novel Ideas.

Colorado, as well as Connecticut, has just given its decision against negro suffrage. This circumstance has led a cotemporary, possessed of very extreme views on the question of negro voting, to take ground against the admission of Colorado into the Union, for which application will be made at the forthcoming session of Congress. "The admission of Colorado," we are told, "now becomes analagous to that of any of the rebel States; and, however desirable it may be for her prosperity, or for the balance of loyal power in the United States Senate, that she should be received into the Union, it is of infinitely greater consequence for the nation to determine its political creed and rule of action." "The issue has been made; we hope it will not be dodged by Congress, and that the Territory will remain as it is (a Territory) until it is ready to execute justice among all its citizens."

The above is a strictly correct application of the arguments of the political school which would prevent the Southern States resuming their places in the councils of the nation until they shall have established negro suffrage. If the Representatives of Mississippi may be excluded from Congress because she does not give the ballot to the blacks, then the same discipline should be applied to Colorado on the same ground; and the same arguments by which Mr. Sumner has urged this course toward the States of the South, will apply with equal force to the new States of the West. If the constitutional provision, which requires that a republican form of government shall be guaranteed to all the States, implies universal suffrage as a necessary incident, then every State which has been admitted into the Union since the formation of the constitution, has been unconstitutionally admitted. The last Congress admitted the Representatives of the new State of Nevada—which adjoins Colorado—to the House and the Senate, though Nevada absolutely denies the right of suffrage to the large Asiatic element of her population. On the grounds now urged, Nevada should have been kept out till she allowed the Chinese to vote; Kansas should have been kept out till she allowed the Indians to vote; and thus we might multiply illustrations. It is quite certain that Congress will take no such novel position, nor sanction such untenable doctrines, in their application to any part of the country.

Newspaper Writers as Witnesses.—The Judge-Advocate in the Wirz trial seems to have cast grave reflections on the credibility of a witness, during the proceedings yesterday, on the ground that the witness in question was a correspondent of two New-York journals. There is no doubt that correspondents are sometimes liable to the suspicion of manufacturing reports which have no foundation. The "reliable gentleman," for instance, who turns up every other night at Philadelphia or Cairo, after a confidential chat with Gen. Grant, is one of those correspondents that we think Col. Chipman would have good reason to impeach on the witness-stand or anywhere else. And the same, even in a greater degree, is true of the worthy who does the principal part of the fighting on the Rio Grande for the press of New-Orleans. But the bare fact of a witness having been known as a correspondent of a public journal ought not of itself, we should think, to invalidate his testimony, even in a military court. Perhaps Col. Chipman has an experience different from journalists; but if the press were to apply his rule to the vast multitude who address themselves to it every day, the literal conclusion that "all men are liars" would be inevitable. In this matter, moreover, of the testimony for the defence of Wirz, we think Col. Chipman would best consult the public interests by giving the fullest scope to those who have anything to say in mitigation of the unparalleled crimes laid at the prisoner's door. The evidence is not laid before an ignorant or prejudiced jury, but before a court perfectly competent to weigh every separate item of testimony with judicial calmness and impartiality. Straining points to impeach the evidence of the defence is therefore unbecoming, to say the least.

The New-York Post-Office.

We are glad to see that the Chamber of Commerce has taken up the subject of a City Post-office. Its call upon the Postmaster-General and upon Congress, to provide a decent building for this branch of the public service, will meet with an emphatic response. The one now used is a disgrace to the city and a scandal to the government. There is not a fire-engine company, nor a police justice in this city that is not infinitely better accommodated, in the transaction of its business, than the Post-office Department of the General Government. A rickety old church, with cracked walls and decayed timbers, patched up in every quarter, with bare or fallen ceilings, cramped, crooked and dilapidated in every respect, is all that the National Government can afford for the transaction of the business that comes closest home to the people in the metropolis of the continent. The merchants have a granite palace which cost two millions for the payment of their custom duties,—and the Sub-Treasurer has a marble building of equal splendor for their custody. But the mass of the people who go for their letters must hang around a tumble-down old church, which scarcely affords shelter from the rain to the crowd of clerks who are required to transact its business. How these clerks save themselves from the rats that infest the old concern, is a standing mystery.

The government should remedy this for its own credit as well as for the proper transaction of its business. Every other city and town of any size in the country is provided with a neat and convenient Post-office:—why is New-York alone doomed to this dismal distinction? It certainly contributes largely enough to the public treasury to be entitled to some consideration at its hands.

The merchants, however, must bear in mind that they are largely responsible for this state of things. When it was proposed, a few years since, to have a new Post-office, they defeated it. They were so fearful that a new building would be located a block or two further from their doors, that they preferred the old one. They raised $50,000 or over to keep it where and what it is. If they begin to feel the disgrace of the thing they have themselves mainly to thank for it. We hope they are sensible at last of their old folly, and are prepared to act more wisely hereafter. But even the Chamber of Commerce still clings to the present site—which is just about as bad as could be selected. It is out of the way, too small by half, and so hidden from public view that a stranger needs a chart and compass to find it and a guide to use them at that. The Astor House block is in every respect the best site for a Post-office in the city. It is roomy, central and accessible on every side.

But, after all, the location of the Post-office is a secondary matter. If the system of city delivery is perfected and maintained, as it ought to be, the place of the central office is of little consequence. If the merchants oppose it, let them have a branch office with the old box system for their special accommodation. But there is no reason why the convenience of the department and of the great body of the people should be so wholly sacrificed to them. And certainly there is not the slightest shadow of decency or sense in keeping the Post-office in its present quarters.

A New Sanitary Case.

We chronicled, a few days since, in our city column, an interesting experiment in a sanitary way, by our police, which shows what can be done even under the law which we have, and what remains to be done. A very efficient officer of the "Sanitary Squad," Capt. Lord, had his attention called to a tenement-house in East Seventeenth-street, which was in a shocking sanitary condition. Filth and dirt prevailed here; the wretched tenants were crammed and crowded into the small rooms; heaps of garbage festered about the building; the halls were dirty and unwhitewashed, and the house, like hundreds of others, became a den of nastiness. Soon among its occupants typhoid took perennial possession, and the building became what is so expressively known as a "fever-nest." Here pestilence was sheltered and carefully nurtured until, well-fledged and strong, it should be able to take to itself wings and fly to hundreds of fresh quarters far away.

No doubt, whenever an easterly wind blew, something of that mysterious substance—whether invisible fungi or animalculæ, or whatever—which forms and spreads contagion, was scattered among the wealthy quarters on Stuyvesant and Union squares, and people living in rich houses mourned for children suddenly stricken by fever, without ever thinking of the quarters so near them and neglected by them, where pestilence held ghastly possession the year round. From this single house more than one hundred cases of fever were reported within a short period. As fast as one family removed or was carried to the hospital or the grave-yard, another took possession of the fatal rooms, and sickness and death followed in constant succession. Moral means were tried with the tenants to check these dreadful evils; they were warned of the sickness which raged at noon-day and night in that deadly house, but the rooms were cheap and they were ignorant, and they preferred "to take their chance." They were instructed to clean and whitewash their quarters, if they would save their children; but the habits of a lifetime were too much, and with characteristic indifference, they let things go on as they were.

There is even perhaps a certain excitement to such people in living on the edge of a volcano; and then again the sicklier a quarter, the cheaper. In the meantime, the owner—a most "respectable" gentleman—received his rents, and living in another part of the city, perhaps hardly troubled himself with the question how his miserable Irish and German tenants were, or in what condition his house was. So far as appears, he never did anything to improve it, or felt in the least his responsibility as a Christian, or even as a citizen, for the health of the tenants or the safety of the community, endangered by such a nest of disease. And we venture to say there are hundreds of most respectable citizens, owning vast numbers of tenement houses, who are equally indifferent in this matter. Sense of duty, or honor, or religion does not seem to touch them, when the health of their tenants is in question. They leave the whole thing to their agents, and their only interest is in the percentage which the property yields.

In this particular case, the sanitary officer saw that there was one way of reaching the owner. Taking advantage of that provision of the Metropolitan Police Bill which authorizes the police "to guard the public health," he entered a formal complaint against the house as a nuisance, or as injurious to public health. The opinion of an expert—an eminent physician—was presented to the court in evidence, as to its sickly and pestilential condition. The Judge seems to have acted with energy and faithfulness, and the owner was summoned and required to clean the house and put it in a good sanitary condition; his name not being made public, as he promised to do at once all that was required.

The case is valuable, as showing how other houses may be proceeded against, which have become dangerous to their occupants and to the city. No doubt the strongest effect of such prosecutions will be in the dread they will inspire the landlords by making public their neglect. No respectable gentleman wants to be known in society as the owner of "fever nests," and deriving his profits from the rents of dens of disease and suffering. But this case, and others similar, also show how defective the law is. The Police act apparently under the most general provisions, though it is a matter of life and death, they have no summary power, as they have with other nuisances; the case must depend on the discretion and feeling of the Judge, and probably in five cases out of ten they could not find an owner to deal with. He is in Europe, or absent, or out of the way; and we doubt then whether they would feel justified in going right on with the cleansing the fatal building and levying on the property.

The whole subject, too, comes formally under the jurisdiction of the "Board of Health," who, of course, as it is a sanitary matter, never do anything about it. We trust, however, that this energetic "sanitary squad" and our citizens will combine to bring such cases before the courts, and at least try the experiment whether "fever nests" are to be a perpetual institution in our metropolis or not.

Gen. Grant and Mexico.—The story of Gen. Grant's Mexican crusade, which probably few persons of intelligence would have been likely to credit, is thus disposed of in a note from the gentleman on whose authority the report was put in circulation:

St. Nicholas Hotel, New-York, Oct. 6.

To the Associated Press:

I regret to see in the papers of this morning my name connected with a report from Philadelphia, in reference to an alleged conversation with Gen. Grant about Mexico. While I am sure Mr. Smith would not intentionally misrepresent, even by a shade, he certainly misunderstood the purport of my conversation with him, if he is correctly reported.

I was never on a train with Gen. Grant, to my knowledge, to or from Cincinnati; I once had a casual conversation with Gen. Grant, in which Mexico was alluded to, and of this I spoke to Mr. Smith in a general conversation on the cars. Gen. Grant in no way intimated to me that it was the purpose of the government to interfere in Mexican affairs.

Casual conversations, maintained merely to while away time, are too liable to be misunderstood or miscalculated; and inferences or surmises, inconsiderately expressed, are too liable to be taken as statements of facts, to be made a safe foundation for even sensation reports.

By allowing me this denial, you will do an act of justice to Gen. Grant as well as myself.

Yours, truly, C. D. CATON.

The base uses to which private conversations are turned by the eavesdroppers of the party scullery, ought to be a warning to public men to be on their guard even in the most confidential intercourse. Gen. Grant ought to have the liberty of speaking his mind in confidence, like any of his fellow citizens. The political pimps, however, forbid this; and probably there is nothing for the Lieutenant-General to do, but preserve unavoidable silence in private, as he does in public. It is a pitiful pass that things have come to; but we see no remedy for it.

Local Politics.—The Mozart Democracy seem to be front in the field with their local nominations, their county ticket being evidently made up for the purpose of forestalling Tammany Hall.

They abandoned the Supreme Court, the Court of Common Pleas and the Marine Court to the known choice of their opponents, and throwing to them their nomination entire, they nominate for one vacant seat on the Superior Court bench, Samuel Jones, who, as a brother-in-law to Judge Barnard, obtains title to some office through kinship, and only reserve to themselves the other seat to which they have renominated James Moncrief. Even this small tit-bit which by great concessions, they thought to retain, is to be snatched from them, for Tammany in secret caucus, has resolved to sustain Judge Robertson in his efforts for a reëlection. Mozart had better reconsider their ticket and put upon it the probable nominees of the Union men.

Connecticut.—Returns have been received from all except two towns in Connecticut. The vote in favor of the constitutional amendment foots up 26,687; against it, 33,055; majority 6,368 against allowing the black man to vote. In the town elections, the Republicans make a net gain of several towns.

NOTES.

Yesterday morning the Envoy of the Bey of Tunis, Gen. Otman Hashem, attended by Col. Ramiro Gaita, his Aide-de-Camp, and Chevalier Antoine Conti, the Secretary and Interpreter of the embassy, together with Mr. Amos Perry, the United States Consul at Tunis, and accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Perry, visited Brady's photographic gallery in Broadway. The distinguished visitors expressed themselves much pleased with their visit, and displayed their acquaintance with our late unfortunate struggle by asking for the portraits of many of the more important characters concerned in it. They were especially impressed with the portrait of our late President, Mr. Lincoln, to whose widow they bear a letter of condolence. Previously to leaving, Mr. Brady took portraits of the Envoy and his attendants in various styles. The autographs which enrich Mr. Brady's book, are unique in their character.

Commander C. R. P. Rogers, one of the most accomplished gentlemen and able officers in the United States Navy, who, for a long time filled, with great satisfaction, the responsible position of Fleet Captain under the lamented Admiral Dupont, is in this city, en route to his home at Newport, R. I., having just returned from a fifteen months' cruise in the sloop-of-war Iraquois in search of the pirate Shenandoah—a tantalizing and fruitless cruse in the East Indian seas. The gallant officer looks well and is in excellent health. His numerous friends will be glad to welcome him after his long exile.

Prof. J. D. B. De Bow is in this city making arrangements preliminary to starting his review. He declares it to be his "purpose in the future to give it a national character, and to devote all his energies and resources to the development of the great material interests of the Union—its commerce, agriculture, manufactures, internal improvements and general industry."

Brady, the photographic artist, has made an excellent picture, in a group, of Mr. James McHenry, Sir Morton Peto, and the other English capitalists of their party. Many of the acquaintances and friends, whom these gentlemen have made during their recent visit to the Western States, will find in this picture a fine memento of the pleasant excursion party.

AMERICAN WINES AND VINES.

A New Wine on the Hudson.

About twenty miles up the Hudson, a region opens out which has long been a favorite of the lovers of the picturesque and the beautiful. On the west bank the somewhat stern line of the Palisades breaks abruptly off, and a lovely valley leads away to the hills on the Hackensack. On the east, a series of wooded ridges with deep ravines and streams flowing between, rolls on toward the Sound. To the north, the stately river spreads out into the broad, peaceful Tappan Sea, with a bold, dark bluff, "Point No-point," projecting into it, and a softly-fading purple perspective stretching away to the hills of the Highlands.

It is a country of picturesque effects, of English-like walks through hedges and locust groves, with sudden peeps at grand walls of gray rock and a glimpse of what seems a lake; of openings through trees which show the broad, blue sheet of the queenly river and the fleets of white sails dotting it; of long strolling paths over the stiles and green sward, with the heavy oaks and tulip trees and rich chestnuts overshadowing in the luxuriant Summer, and the dogwood and sumach and maple lighting them with the glory of their leaves in the golden October—the best month for the Hudson; of everywhere new and fresh glimpses or broad openings of that grand river, (which, to those who live upon it, comes to have a real personality,) and sudden effects of color and of light and shadow, which it is a wonder so few artists of the Hudson have ever thought to render. It is the combination of the grand and almost monotonous line of the Palisades and its cool rock color, with the opening of the river beyond, the long, graceful sweep of green hills on the eastern bank, the rich colors of grove and grain field, and the far blue and purple perspectives up the valley, which make it such a scene of unequaled beauty.

Whittredge and Stagg have thus far alone given us sketches of it, and these not from the best points. The name of this lovely locality is not unsuited to its picturesqueness—"Hastings-on-the-Hudson."

As the traveler on the old post road turns the bend of the hill south of the village, his road running, if it be Autumn, between green cedars entangled in the blood-red chains of the wild vine, he looks down on a sunny slope, stretching to a grove of rich chestnuts, tulips and oaks, where a gray stone-house is nestled. If he stroll down the quiet, shaded avenue, he will come forth on this slope with sunny views of the blue river, sprinkled with white sails, seen through openings in the green cedars—as exquisite and cheerful a scene as one could come across in many a day's travel.

On the southeastern slope of the ground, sheltered from the biting north winds, he will perceive the green trellices of a vineyard, destined one day, perhaps, to be as celebrated as the green-covered rocks of the Johannisberg or the sunny slopes of La Mancha and Xeres.

It is a spot so beautiful and so naturally open to sun and air, that it is no wonder the old Indian tribes who hunted and fished on the Hudson before Van Dyck waged his wars with them, or Peter Stuyvesant bought their lands, selected this as one of their favorite grounds, so that the good earth turns up their arrowheads and pipes, and the river banks are heaped with the shells from their oyster suppers—for the oyster from the Hudson, which the white cannot eat till transplanted, was greedily devoured by the Indian.

It seems the very place for an ideal wine to be made. As no philosopher can say what secret and wonderful influences there are in soil or climate, or air or scene, which tend to form the most perfect and beautiful races of men and women, so we cannot say with scientific exactitude, what goes to produce the intangible and exquisite quality of the best wines: but if pure air for the growth and the fermentation, sunny and sheltered slopes, harmony of all external influences in the golden Autumn, a soil so composed that the atmosphere is forever penetrating and acting upon it, and yet not too dry, an underlying rock which is always yielding some of its best material to the vine, and a care and attention which is almost instinctive in its knowledge of the needs of this difficult culture, could produce a choice wine, then the Hasting Vineyard ought to yield it.

We may offend many patriotic "oinologists" and vine-growers, but we must say, till recently, in our judgment, America has not distinguished herself in native wines. No "Eastern" wine has ever deserved the name of even a passable wine. The Western Catawba wines are much better than ours, but compared with the wines of the Moselle, or the Rhine, or Bordeaux, or Spain, they are poor, fruity and coarse. The best wine made on this side the Rocky Mountains, till recently, was a red wine from Missouri, manufactured from "Norton's Virginia seedling" by the Germans—a wine yet in its infancy, but which, after years of trial and experience, may quite resemble the unequaled Burgundy.

Within a few years, a new importation of wines has been pouring in from California, which prove that in time the Pacific State will be the great vine State of the whole continent. Some of these wines are very poor, especially the so-called "Port;" others are apparently watered in cask, but none are drugged, and one—a "Hock"—will approach some of the (new) choice German hocks. Give the California wine-makers time, and they are evidently going to enter on a successful competition with the best wines of Germany and Hungary.

So far as we are aware, the United States have never produced a wine which, to the lovers of heavy wines, can vie with the fast-disappearing Madeira or the world-known Sherry. In our judgment, the light wines are the best for the morals of a people, but there are many who need a rich and strong wine, provided only they can be sure it is a pure one. Purity in wines is a thing almost impossible to attain. Every foreign wine has various admixtures, some of which are very injurious—and Sherry and Madeira are always brandied. All the customs of the trade now compel this. But wines, into which brandy has been "fretted," are never healthful to the stomach, though the proportion of alcohol appears on analysis no greater than in other wines, where the alcohol is entirely the product of natural fermentation.

Redding, in his work on wine, in strong terms inveighs against the addition of brandy to wine as rendering it prejudicial to the constitution "How," he says, "this difference of effect between combined and uncombined alcohol happens, baffles the research of science to explain, but it is sufficient to know that such is the incontrovertible fact." Mr. Rowley, (to whom we shall again refer,) offers the following explanation: "The alcohol, formed and combined with the wine in the natural process of fermentation, from its intimate combination with extractive and albuminous matter is not absorbed immediately by the membranes, but gradually and during a process of digestion. From this consideration one thing is obvious, that its local effect on the mucous surfaces and viscera must be thus much modified."

A wine has at length been produced in America, after some fourteen years' experiment and experience, which bids fair to take the place of Sherry and Madeira with lovers of good wine, and yet which is a new wine—an American production—and one on whose purity from adulteration and freedom from artificial alcohol, perfect reliance can be placed. The vineyard to which we have already alluded is on the property of the Messrs. Rowley, at Hastings, who have been experimenting on the growth of the vine and the preparation of wine for nearly fourteen years. The slope of the vineyard is southeastern, which is found better suited to the vine in this climate. The underlying rock is granite, (gneiss,) feldspar and mica prodominating, both furnishing in the decomposition of the rock, the potash so necessary for the vine. The soil is trenched or dug over to a sufficient depth to reach the rock or a loose sub-soil. The vines are planted in rows at distances of eight feet each way; they are trained on the usual wire trellises—some perpendicular, others horizontal. The perpendicular are used where the soil is naturally poor and gives a scanty growth; the horizontal where a more fertile soil induces excessive growth, as with a horizontal position of the vine the flow of sap is less rapid, and the energies of growth are more directed to the germ or fruit, and less to the development of wood, and vice versa.

The grape grown here from which is made the wine we shall presently describe, we would state, to the probable surprise of our vine-growing readers, is the Isabella. This grape has been supposed to be too deficient in saccharine matter to make a good wine. But the difficulty has been in the treatment and cultivation of the vine.

The German cultivators of this vine in America commit the common mistake of training on stakes, and thus exposing too much heat. They allow too much wood, prune too severely, and cultivate too near the earth, influenced by the habits of the Rhine, of husbanding heat, whereas our powerful suns have to be shielded off, and our heated rocks are often too burning in temperature.

Again, our American growers almost invariably overtask the vine. A great bearer—the Isabella generally shows far more fruit than it can bring to maturity. As a consequence, the fruit is badly ripened, and it is a principle laid down by every oinologist, that wine with an aroma cannot be prepared from badly-ripened grapes.

Another error in its culture is that the grapes are usually picked too early. The principle of European cultivators is often to leave the grapes on the vine a month after they are apparently ripe, in order to evaporate the watery portion of the pulp of the fruit, and to increase relatively the sugary portion.

The Messrs. Rowley have endeavored to avoid these usual errors, and have produced an Isabella grape which has as high a percentage of sugar as the grape from which sherry is made. Compared with Norton's seedling, (ripe and shriveled,) it is as 24 4-10 per cent. to 21 1-10 per cent.; with Catawba, (ripe and not shriveled,) as 24 4-10 to 19 3-10 per cent.

The grapes are submitted to the pressure of a press similar to a common cider-press.

The must is left to ferment in the cask, with all the scum retained of the fermentation. It is seldom racked unless there is danger of the fermentation proceeding too far.

The cellars are designed to be kept at about a temperature of 52 degrees, and the casks are left with the bungs slightly closed so as to allow breathing to the wine.

The process of fermentation is the trying time, and in the care of this, the true instinct of the genuine winemaker may be recognized, for the difficulties and the methods adopted to cure them, are beyond all rules, or exact instruction. So many unknown causes affect this mysterious change in the wine, that no one, however skillful, can exactly determine or predict the result. It is said that the presence even of a filthy person in a wine-cellar during fermentation, will affect the delicate quality of the wine; and no doubt all the surroundings of pure air and scene, and freedom from any neighboring odors or decaying matter, influence the mysterious process of fermentation. Wine-growers report that there is a secret sympathy between the wine in the cellar and the vine, so that when the latter begins to bud, the former works mysteriously, and the fermentation must often be resisted by artificial process.

After the fermentation is complete, this Hastings wine is kept in cask for six or eight years, and then is ready for the table. The very first taste shows to the wine-taster, a pure wine. There is no lead or logwood or lime or leavings of brandy-casks, or almonds or artificial alcohol, or any of the villainous ingredients which are poisoning our American stomachs in our so-called Sherries and Madeiras and Champaignes, in this wine. It is virgin purity, not adultery, which we detect here. It reminds of the pure American skies and the rich sunlight of the Hudson; not of the dark cellars and gloomy wine-shops where apothecaries' decoctions are manufactured and called wines.

It is a wine of body, showing from 12 to 15 per cent. alcohol, (though our brandied sherry has 20 per cent.,) but it is the product of a natural fermentation, and headache is not hidden in it, unless after great excess. The flavor is delicate, aromatic and nutty, with a nutty bouquet. It is a wine resembling sherry, but coming between sherry and Madeira.

The Messrs. Rowley have made several varieties, of which some resemble the sweet wines of Hungary. It is a wine so cheering and restoring, and with such sanitary properties, that the physicians on the river already recommend it with great success, in certain difficult forms of sickness.

As time develops the virtues, and brings out the hidden properties of this new and pure American wine, we believe it will quite take the place on our tables of the strong, adulterated and brandied wines of Europe.

THE VISITORS FROM TUNIS AT THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE FAIR.

They Call Upon Secretary Seward and Tender their Congratulations and Respectful Consideration.

Our Tunisian friends are having a good time, and if their bump of humor is at all conspicuously developed they are likewise having a jolly time. In addition to the thousand and one courtesies extended them by our merchants and others, they yesterday received and accepted an invitation to visit the American Institute Fair in Fourteenth-street. The managers of the Institute, with a reckless disregard of fact and a somewhat daring attempt at romance, announced, by means of sundry placards, that the Bey of Tunis and his suite would be at the Fair in the evening, and, having prepared the brass band, started a committee, consisting of Gen. Hall and Mr. Thomas McElrath, to escort the gentlemen and their friend, Mr. Consul Perry, to the exhibition.

Gen. Hashem having heard that Secretary Seward was in the city, expressed a desire to call upon him unofficially, and requested his escort to take his party there on the way. At the residence of Mr. R. M. Blatchford the distinguished visitors were met by the host, Mr. Thurlow Weed and Collector King, who presented them to Secretary Seward. Mr. Seward received them cordially, and was most happy in his response to their congratulations and expressions of respect and esteem. He assured them of a hearty welcome at the seat of government, and tendered them, in behalf of the nation, its hospitality during their stay.

After this brief interchange of civilities the party were driven to the Fair, where they were received by Mr. Campbell and other gentlemen prominently identified with the Institute. Superintendent Kennedy, in full uniform and a cane, flourished about at a great rate, and his stalwart body-guard were very efficient, and occasionaly officious, in keeping off the crowd. Everything was shown the Tunisians, and likewise explained to them (in broken English) by the several attentive and decorated managers.

Sundry exhibitors deemed this a fit occasion to secure a little gratuitous advertising, and presented them with a sewing-machine, soap, buckles, buttons, and baby-tenders—and for what we know, a patent quartz-crusher. The little knot of visitors were enveloped, like the Christians, with a perfect cloud of witnesses, who gaped, and stared, and gossiped, and gabbed. It was fortunate that the General and his friends did not understand English, while the glib-tongued people about him could neither speak the Tunisian language nor the French. A pleasant episode in the evening's entertainment was a visit to the armory of Company B, of the Twenty-second Regiment. There they were received by the members of the company, who stood uncovered at their approach. A few words of welcome from the Captain met a courteous response from the General, through the media of the Chevalier Conte and Consul Perry. After this they inspected the arms, and were saluted with three cheers upon retiring.

This morning the party will leave for Washington.

Amusements.

Academy of Music.—Verdi's "Ballo" attracted the usual overflowing audience last evening, but failed to draw the general amount of applause. The latter circumstance is explained by the fact that nearly all the male singers were more or less under the weather. Signor Mazzoleni had to thread his way gingerly in the upper regions, and in the barcarolle, strange to say, did not obtain the encore to which he has been so long accustomed. He was discreet enough, however, to save a galop for the end, and so came out bravely. Signor Bellini was so unwell that it was with difficulty he commenced the evening. Rather, however, than have a change in the bill, he persevered, and considering the very apparent bronchial difficulty under which he was laboring, did extremely well.

Mme. Zucchi fortunately was in excellent voice, and sang with spirit. Mlle. Gebele, too, as Ulrica, displayed a very creditable advance since last year. Her voice is firmer and fuller than heretofore. On Monday "Il Trovatore."

Philharmonic Society.—The first public rehearsal of the New-York Philharmonic Society takes place at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the Academy of Music. The programmes for the season are as follows; the one for the first concert being rehearsed to-day under the direction of Mr. Carl Bergmann:

First Concert, Nov. 4: Schumann, R.—Symphony No. 4, in D minor. Liszt—"Po me Symphonique," "Mazeppa," (first time.) Beethoven—Overture to Leonora, No. 3.

Second Concert, Dec. 16: Beethoven—Symphony No. 8, in F. Largiel—Overture to Prometheus, (first time.) Mendelssohn—The entire music to the "Midsummer Night's Dream." a Overture. b Scherzo. c Intermezzo. d Notturno. e Wedding March.

Third Concert, Jan. 27, 1866: Mozart—Symphony No. 1, in D, (first time.) Mendelssohn—Overture, "Melusine." Berlioz—Fantastic symphony, "The Life of an Artist," (first time.)

Fourth Concert, March 10: Schumann, R.—Symphony No. 3, in E flat. Wagner, R.—Introduction to "Tristan and Isolde," (first time.) Weber, C. M. v.—Overture to "Euryanthe."

Fifth Concert, April 21: Beethoven—Symphony No. 7, in A.—Wagner, R.—Eine "Faust" Overture. Berlioz—Overture, "Les Francs Juges."

Herrmann.—The great prestidigitateur gives another seance this evening at the Academy of Music. We advise our friends to go early. Now that his engagement is drawing to a close, Mr. Herrmann experiences some difficulty in accommodating his friends. On Thursday there was not a seat or a box to be had in the house. Several new tricks will be introduced to-night.

Irving Hall.—Master Coker, formerly principal soprano of Trinity Church, will give an interesting concert at this establishment to-night, assisted by Mme. Jenny Kempton and Mr. S. B. Mills, (piano.)

Broadway Theatre.—Mme. Celeste's two last appearances take place to-day—in the afternoon and evening—the "Woman in Red" being the attraction.

FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

Repeal of the Ordinance of Secession.

Washington, Friday, Oct. 6.

The President this evening received the following dispatch from Gov. Holden:

Raleigh, Oct. 6, 1865.

To the President of the United States:

Sir: The convention has just passed the following by an unanimous vote:

"That the ordinance of the convention of the State of North Carolina, ratified on the 21st day of November, 1789, which adopted and ratified the Constitution of the United States, and also all acts and parts of acts of the General Assembly ratifying and adopting amendments to the said constitution, are now and at all times since the adoption and ratification thereof have been in full force and effect, notwithstanding the supposed ordinance of the 20th of May, 1861, declaring the same to be repealed, rescinded and abrogated; and the said supposed ordinance is now and at all times hath been null and void.

The convention will dispose of the slavery question to-morrow. The State elections will be fixed for the first Thursday of November. Very respectfully,

W. W. HOLDEN,
Provisional Governor.

An Earthquake in Humboldt—Later News from Japan.

San Francisco, Tuesday, Oct. 3.

The steamer Constitution sailed to-day for Panama, with $1,112,000 in treasure for New-York, and $342,000 for England.

The small town of Eureka, on Humboldt Bay, was violently shaken by an earthquake on Sunday last. Nearly every chimney was torn down or cracked, goods in the stores thrown from the shelves, and much crockery broken. The damage is estimated at several thousand dollars.

San Francisco, Wednesday, Oct. 4.

Dates from Kanagawa, Japan, to Aug. 26, have been received. The receipts from the interior had been liberal, but the extreme prices demanded by the natives almost precluded purchases. Silks had also advanced so much as to check business, stocks were accumulating. There was an active demand for silk-worm eggs for export to Europe. Exchange on London and China was lower. There was nothing new in political affairs. The birth of Napoleon I. was celebrated during the week preceding Aug. 25, at Kakodadi, all the residents of foreign birth participating apparently with equal interest. The fete wound up with races and a regatta, and is noticeable as showing the great cordiality in that mixed community.

IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC!
DR. VON EISENBERG'S
ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON,
THE CELEBRATED APPARATUS.

From the New-York Express.

So many able and earnest men are devoting themselves to medical investigation, that it would be strange if new discoveries were not made. Among the most brillant of these—we may indeed say the most brilliant of all—is that of Dr. Von Eisenberg, in regard to the Etherealization of Medicines; we may properly call it the "Spiritualization," since the Latin Spiritus, whence comes our word "Spiritual," signifies primarily, simply "the air."

Many of the most important and vital organs of the human frame cannot be reached by medicines in a solid or even in a liquid form. Thus the lungs are shut up in a bony chest to which access can be had only through the wind-pipe, the opening of which is closed by a valve, called the "epiglottis," so sensitive and so delicately constructed, that it will not allow the passage, except by main force, of the most minute crumb, or the smallest drop of liquid. Every person who has "swallowed the wrong way" the smallest substance, whether of liquid or solid, knows the feeling of strangulation thereby occasioned. A man cannot, if he would, voluntarily swallow any liquid or solid into the lungs, or the passage leading to them. Herein lies the true reason why Consumption has been so incurable.

As to the entire apparatus, we have no hesitation in saying that we regard it as a wonderful invention—one that, were it not so costly, we have little doubt would be adopted by every hospital and medical college in the country. We are satisfied it would well repay, even if he had to journey all the way from Europe, the scientific man to see and examine it. It is a marvel of mechanical complexity, and yet, when its multiform uses are considered, of extreme simplicity and great beauty. That it will in every respect fulfill the expectations of the inventor, we have every reason to believe. It has been constructed with an accurate knowledge of its ultimate uses. One so experienced in the specialities for which it is particularly intended as is Dr. Von Eisenberg, and for which he has long felt the necessity in his practice, could make no failure. With it he is enabled to surmount obstacles that were hitherto deemed all but impossible to control. He can now approach with certainty and diagnose thoroughly every disease that, in the course of his extended practice, he aims to master. To those, therefore, who are in any way afflicted with loss of sight or hearing, with catarrh, bronchitis, chest or lung diseases, we earnestly suggest a visit to the consulting apartments of Dr. Von Eisenberg. There he will be speedily made to know the possibility of a cure in even complicated cases. We hereto observe that the apparatus is intended also to bring the etherealized medicines into direct action upon the nerves. The nervous system is the source of many diseases. All physicians admit this, and all profess at least to be able to apply a remedy. The Allopathic, Homeopathic and Hydropathic, by prescribing opiates, anodynes, &c., may, and do, alleviate the pain arising from impaired or diseased nerves; but this does not restore the nerve, it is only temporary relief—a relief, too, to some one nerve at the expense of the entire system. The Æsthetico-Neuralgicon of Dr. Von Eisenberg not merely allays the irritation, but restores the nerve to its normal condition. The Doctor's theory is, that each nerve has a specific office, and has its own peculiar susceptibility. Thus, for example, the nerve of vision is insensible to touch; and, on the other hand, the nerve of touch is insensible to light, and so on through the whole system.

From the Journal of Commerce.

We think it is but just to Dr. Von Eisenberg to call public attention to him. There are hundreds in the community suffering from catarrh, if not actually praying for death, who are ready to accept of anything that promises to relieve them from their distresses. To such we would say, trifle not with inexperienced men, but consult, without unnecessary delay, Dr. Von Eisenberg, who, at least, has the honesty to assure his patients whether it is in his power to make them whole or not.

HEARING RESTORED BY A SINGLE APPLICATION OF THE ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON. READ! READ!

New-York, May 4, 1865.

I have been induced, by the great number of certificates continually published in favor of Dr. Von Eisenberg's skill, to apply to him for advice concerning my deafness of many years' standing. I placed myself under his care, and to my utmost delight he made me hear perfectly well by a single painless application of Dr. Von Eisenberg's "Æsthetico-Neuralgicon." I have great pleasure in being able to state that his skill in restoring hearing surpasses anything I ever saw or heard of. His attention to the patient is highly commendable.

JOHN WAKELY, No. 104 Monroe-st.

MIRACULOUS CURE OF THE CHRONIC CATARRH, ASSUMING THE FORM OF CONSUMPTION.

I have been suffering for a long time from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, and a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery, and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting of blood. I have been treated by many eminent physicians without success. Recently the Catarrh became so offensive that I could not go into society. Hearing of DR. VON EISENBERG'S new invention, I thought I would apply to him as a last resource. Having been satisfied with his diagnosis, I submitted to his treatment, and have every reason to be abundantly satisfied, as I am completely cured, and my health so much renovated that I feel better than I felt for the last fifteen years. It is a blessing that experience gives the Doctor the power to restore such a shattered constitution to perfect vigor. I now feel very happy to be able to give this testimonial in favor of Dr. Von Eisenberg's inimitable skill.

RESTORATION OF SIGHT.

I, Lawrence Grenna, No. 186 East 36th-st., New-York City, have been suffering from blindness of the left eye for a considerable period. The eye was continually in a state of great inflammation, from which the good eye became affected, and, indeed, my general health was greatly injured by it. Hearing of Dr. Von Eisenberg's great reputation, and as every one said mine was a hopeless case, I called on the Doctor, who, after examining me, undertook my case, and within a fortnight I found myself almost completely cured. It is now a month since I placed myself under Dr. Von Eisenberg's treatment, and I am happy to be able to state that the inflammation is entirely gone, so that I see perfectly with both eyes, added to which I am in good health—a blessing I have not enjoyed since I was blind. I do conscientiously and gratefully swear to the above statement, in a court of justice, at the City Hall of the City of New-York, the 10th day of October, 1864.

LAWRENCE GRENNA.

Sworn before me this 10th day of October, 1864.
C. GODFREY GUNTHER, Mayor.

PUBLISHED THIS DAY, BY CHARLES SCRIBNER & CO.,
No. 124 Grand-st., New-York.
DANTE,
AS PHILOSOPHER, PATRIOT AND POET. With an Analysis of the Divine Comedia, its Plot and Episode. By Prof. BOTTA. 1 vol., crown 8vo, on Tinted Paper, $2 50.

It is decidedly the best account of the poet that has appeared in the English language. It is careful, learned, discriminating and eloquent, written in terse and eloquent English that is remarkable in the pen of an author not native to our soil. The analysis of the poem is full and philosophical, alive with Italian enthusiasm, yet calm and truly catholic in its humanity and trust.—New-York Evening Post.

ALSO, JUST READY,

The work has received the most favorable notices from the leading English journals, and has already passed through four editions in England. The vast amount of fresh and authentic materials which the author has brought to bear on the periods of which he writes, gives his work an interest and value beyond any previous history of the same events.

3,000 ARTISTS IN CUBA.
That is to say, 3,000 copies of Mr. Carleton's new comic book, entitled OUR ARTIST IN CUBA, have been sold in less than a week, and another edition is rapidly passing through the press.

OUR ARTIST IN CUBA

is a beautiful little book, containing fifty comic sketches of a traveler's haps and mishaps in that lovely land of leather-colored Cubans, scorpions, rats, cockroaches, tarantulas, fleas, spiders, lizards, donkeys, cock-fights, mask-balls, codfish, garlic, onions and oranges that do abound in the tropics.

The Publisher would say that the pictures are brim full of humor, and are being praised by every one—but the Author forbids any such manner of advertising—so the book must speak for itself.

3,000 COPIES

are now speaking for themselves, and there will soon be 2,000 more. Elegantly printed on tinted paper, and bound in a new style. Price $1 50.

By virtue of the authority contained in the first section of an act of Congress entitled "An Act to provide ways and means to support the Government," approved March 3, 1865, which provides, among other things, that any Treasury Notes, or other obligations bearing interest issued under any act of Congress, may, at the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, and with the consent of the holder, be converted into any description of bonds authorized by said act, notice is hereby given to the holders of Certificates of Indebtedness which mature before the 1st day of January next, of Compound Interest Notes, and of one and two year Treasury Notes, of the readiness of this department to give in exchange for them, to the extent of fifty millions of dollars, six per cent. Five-Twenty Year Bonds at three per cent. premium; that is to say, one hundred dollars of bonds for each one hundred and three dollars in certificates and notes; provided the conversion is made prior to the 1st day of November next.

The bonds issued in exchange for such certificates and notes will bear an interest of six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually in coin, upon the first days of May and November, and will be redeemable at the pleasure of the government after five years, and payable in twenty years from the first day of November, 1865.

The coupon and registered bonds issued under this proposal will be of the denominations of one hundred, five hundred and one thousand dollars. Registered bonds of five thousand and ten thousand dollars will be issued if desired.

Holders of certificates, compound interest or Treasury notes, who desire to make such conversions, will deliver them to the Treasurer, the Assistant Treasurers or the designated depositaries of the United States, or to any national depositary bank which may consent to transact the business without charge.

Interest will be allowed on certificates of indebtedness, and one and two-year Treasury notes matured or maturing prior to the first of November, 1865, up to the date of maturity, and when maturing after the first of November, interest will be allowed to that day.

Upon the compound interest notes the interest will be computed to November 1, 1865, upon the amount of principal and interest compounded on the back of said notes, from the period next prior to that date.

The principal and interest of such Treasury Notes and obligations will be considered together, as an offer for conversion, but when, after deducting the principal of the Bonds, and three per cent. premium, there remains a fractional part of one hundred dollars, this fractional part will be paid to the depositor.

The Secretary reserves to himself the right of withdrawing this proposal at any time prior to said first day of November, provided fifty millions of dollars shall, prior to that date, be offered for conversion as aforesaid.

Circulars of instructions will be transmitted to the various officers authorized to receive certificates and notes, to which attention is invited.

H. McCULLOCH, Secretary of the Treasury.

THE PATERSON FALL MEETING.

The Fall Meeting of this association commences at their private grounds at Paterson on Tuesday next, and promises in all respects to be a success.

The Trotting Turf.

There was hope of a great trot at the Union Course, Long Island, on Thursday, but the race terminated in a very easy and unexpected manner. The entry was for a purse of $1,500, the contestant parties being the bay mare Lady Thorne, the brown stallion George Wilkes, and the famed chestnut mare Lady Emma. Lady Thorne won the race in three straight heats. The day was unusually adverse to trotting purposes. It was dull, cold, and cheerless—a heavy wind causing the dust to fly to such an extent that the horses could scarcely be distinguished on the back of the course. The attendance also was not as large as such a trotting contest should have commanded, and was principally confined to those on speculative views intent. More than the customary facilities were afforded to those inclined to reach the course, for which strange innovation and improvement on the past thanks are due to the management.

SUMMARY.

Thursday, Oct. 5, purse of $1,500, mile heats, best three in five in harness.

D. Pfifer named b. m. Lady Thorn	1	1	1
S. McLaughlin named br. g. George Wilkes	2	2	2
Hiram Woodruff named ch. m. Lady Emma	3	3	3

TIME.

	Quarter.	Half.	Mile.
First Heat	0:35½	1:14½	2:28½
Second Heat	0:37	1:15	2:27¾
Third Heat	0:37	1:14½	2:27½

In the show of the trio, Lady Thorne commanded the most attention. She looked and proved herself fit to trot for any amount of money that her friends could intrust her with. The stallion George Wilkes was in the very pink of condition; but, as the result proved, he has lost that turn of speed for which he was once so celebrated; yet he exhibited more sterling qualities as a trotter than he has displayed in any previous contest of the season. Not so that one time magnificent mare Lady Emma, who was evidently out of all trotting fix. The fact was patent that Lady Thorne could readily defeat either of her opponents on the day, as the result proved. Prior to the start she was the favorite in the pool, and outside betting at 10 to 7 versus the field, George Wilkes being second in demand, and Lady Emma regarded as an outsider.

FIRST HEAT.—After several futile attempts, a good start was effected, Lady Thorne with the pole, and Emma outside. Making the turn, Lady Thorne had a strong lead of Wilkes, Emma being behind at the quarter. Lady Thorne maintained her advantage, Wilkes sticking close to her wheel; she improved her advantage down the back, Emma, on a bad break, being ten or twelve lengths in the rear. At the lower turn Wilkes tried to close the gap, but Lady Thorne kept slightly in advance of him, and in the home stretch an exciting struggle ensued, but the mare retained her advantage, and won handily by the best part of a length—Emma beaten by at least ten lengths.

SECOND HEAT.—Betting 2 to 1 on Lady Thorne. A good start, but making the turn Lady Thorne took a decided lead of a length, Wilkes having the lead of Emma. The lead was increased half a length at the quarter pole, and full another length at the half-mile. Further description is unnecessary, Lady Thorne coming home the easiest of winners by clear three lengths—Emma beaten by as much daylight for second place.

THIRD HEAT.—10 to 1 on Lady Thorne, but no takers. The favorite took the lead—at the turn, Emma broke from her third position, and was out of the heat thereafter—Lady Thorne maintained her supremacy to the end, and came home the most remarkably easy of winners, with four or five lengths to spare.

THE KNIFE IN THE BOWERY.

Between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday morning, JOHN H. EDDINGTON, Jr., of No. 174 Elizabeth-street, who had been abroad with his wife and her sister, and was on his way home, was assaulted by one JOHN KELLY and stabbed in the side, back, and shoulder. Hearing the women's shrieks, Patrolmen MULLALLY, of the Fourteenth Precinct, and BIRMINGHAM, of the Tenth, hastened to the spot and arrested KELLY. Mr. EDDINGTON was taken to the New-York Hospital, but as the wounds appeared to be slight, he was permitted to depart yesterday forenoon. KELLY was sent to the Tombs and held until afternoon, when, there being no complainant against him, he was released from restraint.

ARREST OF A BRAKEMAN.

Yesterday morning, Patrolman O'NEIL, of the Twentieth Precinct, arrested PATRICK RYAN, a brakeman employed on the Hudson River Railroad, and the prisoner was committed to answer the complaint of CHARLES BAUER, a German emigrant, alleging that the accused had attempted to steal the contents of his traveling bag. Mr. BAUER, who had come to this city to take passage for California, stepped from a car at the Hudson River Railroad Depot, and left his luggage behind. Presently returning, he saw RYAN cutting open his carpet-bag; but on the approach of BAUER RYAN fled, and was pursued into the street, where he was taken into custody.

COURT CLERK ROBBED.

Yesterday afternoon an unknown thief entered the front basement window of Mr. THOMAS W. PITTMAN'S dwelling, at No. 105 West Twenty-sixty-street, and stole therefrom a quantity of valuable wearing apparel, and a prized set of dinner and tea knives that had been presented to Mr. PITTMAN. The cutlery is of unique pattern, and may be known by the diamond shaped ivory handles. Pawnbrokers are requested to notify Mr. PITTMAN, Clerk of the Jefferson Market Police Court, if the knives are offered them.

PETROLEA.

The United Service Petroleum and Mining Company, nearly all the managers of which are or have been under arrest on various charges, again inflicted itself upon Justice DODGE, yesterday afternoon, and after the examination and cross-examination of SAML. J. ALBRIGHT, the person who surveyed the Petroleum Company's lands, Messrs. DAVID DUDLEY FIELD, Jr., and Ex-Judge STUART, counsel for WILLIAM D. MANN and DANIEL STRATTON, Jr., the defendants, moved the dismissal of the complaint. Justice DODGE took the papers and reserved his decision.

OFFICER ASSAULTED.

On Friday night THOMAS S. WELLING, a seaman, having become inebriated, assaulted several persons on Pier No. 40, East River. Patrolman NELLIS, of the Seventh Ward, undertook to arrest him, and seizing a belaying pin, he struck the officer on the head, prostrating him to the sidewalk. An alarm rap brought assistance, and WELLING was taken to the Madison-street Police-station. He was committed for trial.

Movements of the Tunisean Embassador and Suite.

THEY VISIT THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY AND WALL-STREET.

The Tunisean Embassador and suite, accompanied by Mr. PERRY, the American Consul at Tunis, visited BRADY'S Photographic Gallery and sat for their portraits. In appearance they are very much like ordinary individuals dressed in broadcloth, the only characteristic feature about them being the red fez, which is one of the principal manufactures of their country, and so common along the shores of the Mediterranean. After leaving BRADY'S, the party went to the Historical Society's building, corner of Eleventh-street and Second-avenue, where they spent nearly an hour examining relics of the revolution and other curiosities. They appeared to be pleased with their visit, chatting gaily in French the while.

Then they went to Wall-street, where, after examining the exterior of the Custom-house, and gazing with an apathetic stare on the Bulls and Bears, as if wondering what so much apparent confusion could be about, they were driven back to their hotel—the Astor House.

During their drive they were never tired of talking of the width of our streets and the heighth of our buildings. It is a new revelation to them, and they gaze with wonderment on the palatial residences of our merchant princes. They even go so far—but this will scarcely be credited—as to praise the cleanliness of our streets. Compared with their native city, Tunis, no doubt New-York is a marvel of cleanliness. For the streets in Tunis are exceedingly narrow and excessively dirty. And the houses are very mean looking, consisting of a single story, presenting a blank—not to say a blind—appearance toward the street, having no windows.

Later in the day, a delegation on behalf of the American Institute, consisting of Gen. HALL, OLIVER ELY and Mr. McELRATH, waited on the Ambassador and were presented by Mr. PERRY. Their object was to invite the Ambassador to attend the fair in order to witness and examine the inventive genius of American citizens. The Ambassador expressed himself much gratified for the invitation, and thanked the American Institute, through the delegation, on behalf of himself and government.

An Alleged Mock Auction Swindle.

EXTRAORDINARY CASE OF ALLEGED FRAUD.

Yesterday, ZENO BURNHAM, an auctioneer, was arraigned before Mayor GUNTHER upon a charge of fraud. The following is the affidavit of the complainant:

City and County of New-York, ss.—Mrs. Eliza Ann Stebbins, being duly sworn, deposes and says that she resides at No. 47 West Thirty-fifth-street; that on Saturday, the 30th day of September last past, deponent went to an auction store kept by a person named Zeno Burnham, at No. 44 West Sixteenth-street, in said city, and that she was defrauded by said Burnham at said place by a mock auction swindle out of 7-30 United States bonds for $1,000, with coupons attached, and also out of $30 in money; that deponent prays that said Zeno Burnham may be arrested and dealt with according to law.

ELIZA ANN STEBBINS.

Sworn to before me this 2d October, 1865.
C. G. GUNTHER, Mayor.

The indorsement on the affidavit was as follows: "Mrs. Eliza Ann Stebbins vs. Zeno Burnham—Mock Auction Fraud."

On this complaint BURNHAM was arrested and brought to the Mayor's office, where he has been once or twice before on charges of fraud. He was attended by his counsel, Mr. CHARLES S. SPENCER, and Mr. BEDFORD appeared for the prosecution. Mrs. STEBBINS, the complainant, who has recently been living at Bloomfield, Mass., but how resides at No. 47 West Thirty-fifth-street, testified that on Saturday last she went with her daughter to the house No. 44 West Sixteenth-street, where, according to advertisement, some handsome furniture belonging to a family going to Europe would be disposed of at public auction. Complainant purchased, according to a memorandum made by her daughter at the time, $300 worth of household furniture, and after the sale was concluded, BURNHAM came to her and informed her that it was usual for purchasers at auction sales to make a deposit as evidence of good faith. She tendered $30, and on his asking for more, she said she had no cash, but had government bonds at her residence. BURNHAM then proposed that she should let him have $500 in bonds, and on her consenting he accompanied her to her residence, where she produced a package of 5-20s and 7-30s. The first bond she took up was a 7-30 for $1,000, and at this BURNHAM "seemed to catch," as complainant said, and asked her if she would let him have it, promising to return the bond or the difference on Monday. She accordingly let him have it, he giving a receipt therefor. On Monday she went to BURNHAM'S place of business and desired to have a settlement, when he presented a bill of goods to the amount of $2,300, and asked her to pay him the balance, $1,300. She declared that she had never bought the goods; that her whole purchases did not exceed $300, and that she would not pay his bill. BURNHAM then informed her that according to the law in this State, a purchaser refusing to take goods bought at auction forfeits the deposit, and, therefore, he should keep the $1,030. The complainant protested against this, when BURNHAM offered to return her $500, and finally proposed to make a list of articles to the value of $1,000, which he would give her, saying that he knew better than she did what she wanted. The complainant objected to this, and received from him neither money nor furniture. Miss JULIA STEBBINS corroborated her mother's testimony, BURNHAM denied that he was guilty. The Mayor said he should hold him to bail in the sum of $5,000 to appear before the Court of Sessions.

The case is prosecuted under the act of the Legislature of April 9, 1863, entitled "An act to suppress gross frauds and mock auctions."

The act provides that if any person be convicted under it he shall be liable to imprisonment one year in the county jail or for three years in the State prison.

Bold Outrage in Central Park—A Woman Assaulted and Robbed by a Hackman.

The report under this heading which appeared in the TIMES on Thursday last, contained some inaccuracies, which are corrected in the following statement:

On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. VERTU, of Brooklyn, went into the Maison Dorée to take some refreshment, and while sitting there alone, a well-dressed woman, accompanied by an old lady, entered the room and sat down near her. Mrs. VERTU did not recognize the woman except by having met her once or twice on the ferry-boat, and having once accidentally occupied a seat near her at a matinée. This person at once entered into conversation with Mrs. VERTU, and as she looked to be respectable, and the old lady, whom she called her mother, equally so, Mrs. VERTU politely replied. This woman, after a few moments, offered Mrs. VERTU some refreshments, which, after repeatedly refusing, she accepted. Glasses were brought, and while the old woman kept Mrs. VERTU in conversation the other undoubtedly drugged one of the glasses, as after drinking part of the contents Mrs. VERTU very soon felt dizzy and confused, and, on rising to go home the woman insisted on accompanying her in a carriage to Brooklyn. This was done, but under the stupefying effect of the drug Mrs. VERTU was unaware of the direction the carriage had taken, until she found herself on the outskirts of the city, and the woman sitting at her side. Mrs. VERTU said that she wished to go home. The carriage was stopped, the woman descended from the vehicle, took the driver's seat and made him go inside. He at once commenced pulling at Mrs. VERTU'S rings. Mrs. VERTU sprang out of the carriage; the horses were stopped, and the man and the woman then forced her inside again, and the driver again attempted to rob her, which he succeeded in doing. Mrs. VERTU again, after a great struggle, while the horses were at full speed, sprang to the ground. Her screams brought a gatekeeper to her assistance, and she was taken, bruised and bleeding, to the station-house, to make complaint that she had been drugged and robbed. She could not accuse the driver, as it was dark, and her state of mind was such that she could not with certainty swear to the identity of any person in particular; so the woman and the hackman were released. Officer VAN ARSDALE, however, satisfied that a great outrage had been committed, subsequently went of his own accord in search of the driver, and found the jewelry stolen from Mrs. VERTU on his person, and arrested him; but his female accomplice had, unfortunately, disappeared.

ELECTRICITY

The natural displays of Electricity, with their attending phenomena, lose much of their interest as we unfold from day to day its vast resources. The rays of sunlight, the gentle breeze, the flickering aurora borealis, the destructive hurricane, the rocking of the earthquake, the lightning's flash, with its thundering peals, lose much of their terrific grandeur, when we behold on every hand its practical workings as developed by the ingenuity of man.

WE NO LONGER STAND INSULATED

from the electrical universe, but have passed the barrier, seized upon the fiery element, educated it for our uses, not only for local purposes, but send it forth as a quick and reliable messenger to all parts of the civilized globe.

The introduction of the lightning-rod, the art of telegraphing, and electro-plating, in connection with the hundreds of purposes for which it is employed, have established a new era, revolutionized our social and business relations, and given birth to a fountain of light and knowledge heretofore undreamed of.

in electrical science are so truthful, astounding and important, that thoughtful minds are abandoning their old theories and investigating the electrical laws, well knowing that Electricity is the universal solvent, the base of all sciences, and the connecting link between the material and spiritual universe.

HAVING EXHIBITED

its laws and forces as a mechanical and chemical agent, it unfolds to us its transcendent powers as an antidote for our physical ills.

So wonderful have been its results in instantly allaying the most alarming maladies, and eradicating from the system obstinate chronic affections, that the medical faculty stand aghast, while many of its members have abandoned the old practice and employ electricity as a specialty.

ALL MATERIAL REMEDIES

introduced for the removal of disease have proved precarious, for want of adaptation, being too gross for the human organism, and incapable of polarizing the nervous system or equalizing the circulation.

IN ELECTRICITY

we find an agent of unlimited power, carrying with it the elements of life, health and vitality, adapted to all constitutions, and an antidote for all diseases when scientifically applied. Its peculiar adaptedness may be summed up as follows:

FIRST,

It is the very element upon which life itself depends, governing all the functions of the body.

Second—It can be localized to any part, or so generally diffused as to bring the entire system under its exhilarating influence.

Third—It being the vital force, and not dependent on the electrical action of the body, will produce immediate results after all other remedies cease to act. Fourth—It carries with it the two base principles in nature, the acid and alkali, upon which all disease, as well as curative agents depend. Finally, it furnishes the only reliable basis for a correct diagnosis, by pointing out not only the locality of the disease, but its positive or negative nature.

THERE ARE BUT TWO

conditions of disease, positive and negative. It should further be borne in mind that Electricity possesses inherently these two principles; not as taught in books, but as exists in nature. Positive and negative are not evolved from different substances; but sustain the same relation to all bodies; what we wish to convey is simply this, that the two poles of the same current are opposite.

THE DISCLOSURE OF THIS FACT

unfolds the whole mystery, and every reflecting mind cannot fail to see its importance in the treatment of disease, and all attempts to apply it without a knowledge of the aforesaid principles must prove empirical.

THE DISCOVERIES OF DR. CHAMBERLIN

in electrical science (especially that branch relating to the art of healing) have been so generally discussed that further comment seems unnecessary. For many years he has carefully investigated the electrical phenomena of the animal organism, and the effects of Electricity in the varied forms of disease, and the results justify the following assertions, viz.: That in some form it is adapted to all constitutions, and all diseased manifestations; that in acute attacks, where drugs may be serviceable, Electricity is much more speedy and reliable in its results, and in obstinate chronic affections beyond the reach of other remedies it possesses the power of reëstablishing the health functions.

THE CURES EFFECTED

by this treatment are not only marvelous but miraculous; medical history shows no parallel. The consumptive, dyspeptic, paralytic, rheumatic, neuralgic, and sufferers from other heretofore incurable maladies, testify by thousands to their restoration to health by Dr. CHAMBERLIN after exhausting the best medical skill and remedial agencies.

Renewed his Age.

REV. M. THATCHER, of New-York, in a letter, says: "My age is sixty. One year ago my hair was very gray and falling. I used Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer according to directions, and now my hair is restored to its natural color, and has ceased to fall.
